U.S. Food Stamp Center In Area Opens In Week

A federal food stamp application and distribution center for the Northwest suburbs will open in Rolling Meadows, "in about a week to 10 days," said John W. Ballew, director of the service division of the county public assistance department.

Ballew said Monday the food stamp office will be located in the Northwest Opportunity Center, in downtown Rolling Meadows.

Two additional centers will also be opened in Evanston, according to Ballew. Ballew said the three new centers will open, "regardless of any action local townships take."

On Sept. 15, supervisors of six townships, Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Barrington and Hanover, in a joint statement offered township personnel and facilities for the food stamp program. The supervisor's action was taken after the close of food stamp facilities in the Northwest suburbs by the county aid department in April.

THE FOOD STAMP office had been located in the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Ballew said of the townships' proposal: "They are asking for their people to be authorized to handle food stamp applications and distribution. They can't do this under state and federal regulations. We (the county) can't approve their request. They should know this," said Ballew.

Bernie Lee, Elk Grove Township auditor, said that William Rohling, township supervisor, was going to contact Ballew to discuss the township's offer. "We are trying to arrange a meeting sometime this week," said Lee.

Ballew said, "I will be glad to meet with them at a mutually convenient time. I will discuss with them whenever they are ready, but what they are asking for is contrary to regulations."

When the township supervisors' statement was released, Lee said he understood that the operation at the Northwest Opportunity Center had limited facilities for the food stamp operation.

"THEY COULD only handle 20 cases on the one day each week the caseworkers were there," said Lee. "If you were number 21, you had to wait a week."

Ballew said that only two caseworkers will be operating from the Northwest Opportunity Center when the food stamp program reopens. He called the facilities, "extremely limited."

Ballew said the center had been closed in April because an extensive training program was required for caseworkers after new regulations for food stamps were implemented.

Ballew said that the food stamp center was being opened under a federal grant for project FIND. This is a program to use the Social Security mailing lists to contact senior citizens and inform them of their possible eligibility for food stamps.

Ballew said that the reopened center would handle all cases, not just senior citizens.

IT LOOKS IMPRESSIVE, but in reality work has just begun on the Salt Creek Water Reclamation Plant southwest of Rte. 53 and Higgins Road in Schaumburg Township. When completed in December, 1974 the plant will treat 50 million gallons of sewage a day and will be the world's largest three-stage sewage treatment plant. Residents of Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Elk Grove Village, Roselle, Rolling Meadows, Inverness, Palatine and unincorporated areas will be served by the new plant.

Enrollment Is Tops In State Outside Chicago

The 14,570 students in Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 place it as the largest elementary school district in Cook County outside of Chicago.

This is the second year in a row the district holds the position, said Milt Derr, assistant superintendent.

Though the number of additional students is not as large as last year a steady enrollment increase continues to place Dist. 54 as the largest, he added.

The increase of 924 children over the 13,646 in the schools one year ago, shows a 6.8 per cent increase compared with last year's increase of 1,090 students.

Continued new building construction with the John Muir School opening in August and the eight-room addition to the Hanover Highlands School made it possible for the schools to open with no children on double shift schedule, said Derr.

Largest enrollment of district 54's 22 schools is the Jane Addams Junior High School with 1,243 students. Addams has 590 seventh grade and 456 eighth grade students. Included are 172 sixth grade students and 25 students enrolled in special classes.

Second largest of the schools is the Anne Fox School with 897 children. Other schools and their enrollments are: Dr. Thomas Dooley, 872; Nathan Hale, 870; Robert Frost Junior High School, 837; Winston Churchill, 835; Hanover Highlands, 790; Helen Keller Junior High School, 789; Douglas MacArthur, 760; Campanelli, 696; Lakeview 679; Neil Armstrong, 652; Michael Collins, 649; Everett Dirksen, 626; Edwin Aldrin, 578; Schaumburg, 568; Hillcrest, 553; Hoffman, 396; Twinbrook, 383; Fairview, 353; Blackhawk 286, and Muir, 258.

Implied Consent Law Yet To Be Used In Villages

While both Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg are equipped and ready to enforce the driver's implied consent law, effective since Sunday, neither village has had occasion to do so.

The machines are to be used in the arrests of suspected drunken drivers, to determine to what extent they are under the influence of liquor. Under the new law, any driver implies, by the act of driving a car, his consent to be tested on the breathalyzer. The law provides that any driver refusing to be tested may face suspension of his license for three months.

As of Monday morning, neither department had made any drunken driving arrests in the first hours of the law's effectiveness.

BOTH VILLAGES have breathalyzer machines, which test alcoholic content of a person's blood stream. Both have certified operators.

While Schaumburg's machine had not yet been tested and certified as of Monday morning, inspectors were expected to visit the police department at any time and complete that procedure.

Neither village paid for the machines. They were supplied by the Illinois Department of Health, which also is responsible for certifying operators and machines. The villages traded in old models, which they had purchased, for the models supplied by the health department.

Hoffman Estates has five certified operators, and Schaumburg has 12. The equipment was received in both villages within recent weeks.

Seltzer Named Program Development Coordinator

by JERRY THOMAS

A major administrative appointment was made recently in naming Carl Seltzer as program development coordinator for the 22 schools in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54.

Seltzer, who for four years has served as mathematics consultant for the district, replaces R. Kim Driggers who left the district in August to take a similar position in the Centralia, Ill. schools.

As program development coordinator, Seltzer will be responsible for developing and carrying out the district's instructional program for the 14,570 students enrolled in the schools.

SINCE COMING TO the district, Seltzer has worked extensively to change the math curriculum to make it more meaningful to the students and improve their skills, said Wayne Schaible, superintendent.

"Among the changes in the curriculum the increased use of manipulative materials has been one of the most important. The use of objects by the young learner to learn math concepts is related to the way children learn," said Seltzer.

Among the more significant materials used is the rod measurement program Seltzer started in grades one and two. The program has won national recognition.

Committees of teachers and Seltzer have written two workbooks now used in Dist. 54 programs.

Under his direction increased in-service training workshops in mathematics for classroom teachers have been scheduled on a regular basis. The schools also have arranged with National College of Evanston a program where teachers may enroll to earn 12 semester hours of graduate credit.

SELTZER ALSO DEVELOPED a complete reference file that ties together the objectives and materials used to teach mathematics objectives. Committees of teachers and Seltzer worked during three summer curriculum projects to develop these performance objectives, for the total math program from kindergarten through grade eight.

Seltzer said almost all changes in mathematics have been directed toward a more individualized math program for each child.

"Our biggest objective is to humanize the curriculum and make it more real for the student. More input in all curriculum areas by parents, teachers and administrators is needed and will be sought by me," he added.

Seltzer is active in the Illinois Council of Teachers of Mathematics presently serving as State Council Program Chairman, as well as participating at national meetings of the mathematics teachers.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Sen. George S. McGovern, in an address to editors, charged that the Nixon administration is corrupt and the nation is deteriorating under "the worst leadership in our history."

Ralph Nader, who has investigated everything from dirty meat to defective cars, this week will unveil the first results of the biggest raid of his career—a report on the U.S. Congress, the nation's "greatest underachiever." The $200,000 for the investigation was raised by Nader through speaking and writing.

President Nixon met in Washington with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko amid reports that the U.S. is ready to begin negotiations on reducing troop strength in Europe.

A search is under way for five would be "altar boys" who escaped from prison in Norristown, Pa., while preparing an altar for religious services.

The State

Among a barrage of decisions handed down by the Illinois Supreme Court were two which lift death penalties for convicted murderers and a third which says open-end car washes are "buildings" under Illinois law and can therefore be burglarized.

An explosion collapsed two walls and part of a roof at a cab company garage in Chicago, killing one man and injuring eight.

Sargent Shriver courted the labor vote in the Midwest, charging the Russian wheat deal has cost farmers and laborers alike. He spoke to 1,000 persons on the Rock Island County Courthouse lawn.

The World

Celebrating her 23rd anniversary, China took the occasion to blast a "superficial compromise" between the United States and Russia as merely a lull in which the two superpowers prepare for a new conflict.

Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag predicted he would "drink a toast of joy" as he joined millions of Danes in a national referendum which opinion polls seemed certain would establish Denmark as the only Scandinavian member of the European Common Market.

A British army intelligence agent was shot to death in an Irish Republican Army IRA ambush which ripped the cover from British plainclothes patrols.

The War

North Vietnam suffered its worst one-month plane losses of the Indochina conflict in September with nine of its Soviet-supplied MIG fighters shot down and seven others destroyed on the ground, U.S. military sources said. At least 18 American planes were shot down by North Vietnamese gunners during the month. Meanwhile, U.S. military force in the South Vietnamese war zone last week reached its lowest level in 7½ years, with troop strength now at 35,900.

The Market

The stock market fell back into its "Labor Day syndrome" with prices meandering aimlessly to a slightly lower finish on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Average closed unchanged at 953.27. Declines outnumbered advances, 801 to 597, among the 1,571 issues on the tape. The market has been "soft" since Labor Day except for a brief flurry last week after peace rumors. Prices also were lower in sluggish trading on the American Stock Exchange.

6 STRAIGHT FACTS ABOUT YOUR SCHOOL BAND PROGRAM AND HOW IT WILL AFFECT YOUR CHILD:

1. Instrumental music study is the single best subject for training the mind to concentrate because it requires simultaneous use of the aural, visual, and tactile senses. (UCLA Study) Concentration, according to educators, is an important variable in academic learning ability.
2. Because instrumental music is efficient at teaching concentration it is the very best academic subject available for stimulating general academic development. That's why the majority of academic scholarships are won by student musicians. (Oxford Univ. Study)
3. Instrumental music is an exacting science which requires independent work while teaching maximum cooperation with split second timing from all participants. There are no bench-warmers in the band, everyone plays. This is one reason why it is a most loved subject while being most demanding.
4. Your school band director is one of the most highly trained professional people in the community. In most cases he has studied longer in his field than professionals in any other field. He's well equipped to show you that your child can enjoy the benefits which instrumental music study has to offer, and to prove to you that tone deafness is a myth. (Harvard Univ. Study)
5. The cost is low compared to private study. Fees for most school band programs are less than $10 a month. Most instruments can be rented from us for $2.00 a week. When the total rental paid equals the price of the instrument plus sales tax, you own it. In the meantime you can return it if you wish with no further obligation.
6. There are 18,000,000 student musicians actively participating in 70,000 school music groups. (AMC Report) Allow your child the headstart in education which these students are getting. When your child brings home the note from the band director, sign up. Then come to Shuey's to rent your choice of name brand musical instruments on our exclusive program which saves you all interest charges.

Ed Hanrahan, Cook County States Attorney, expressed his feelings for gubernatorial hopeful, Dan Walker at the Schaumburg Township Democratic dinner dance Saturday night.

Hanrahan turned his back when approached by Walker. Walker has failed to endorse Hanrahan who is seeking reelection while on trial for conspiring to cover up facts in the Black Panther raid of December, 1969.

UNCONFIRMED, BUT spreading in wild-fire fashion, is the suspicion that Hoffman Estates Republican Organization may not be planning a ticket for the April municipal election in that village.

Presumably, this would enable the mother group, Republican Organization of Schaumburg Township (ROOST), to return to its pre-1969 modus operandi lending relatively placid and so-called unofficial support to a purportedly independent slate.

Such a move might enable the GOP to apply a larger portion of cash toward their, also rumored, national party effort in Schaumburg come spring. But, on the other hand, party leaders could be on the level about abandoning the national label in local affairs.

In the meantime, ROOST chieftains continue to remain mum in their usual cloak and dagger fashion, though some have been lately known to explain that the GOP entered the Hoffman Estates scene "to clean things up" with the idea of pulling out once that task was accomplished.

Leaders currently plead indecision since their main thrust now is the Nov. 7 general election.

No matter, plans for a course of action probably have been decided since the local convention would follow election day by only a few weeks. Anyway, it won't be too long before either convention plans are announced or the resulting silence will indicate the GOP is off the bandwagon in Hoffman Estates.

WEATHER PERMITTING, bituminous resurfacing of the 2,500 foot landing strip at Schaumburg Airport will take place within the week. Though result of an imminent feasibility study could lead to eventual village acquisition and expansion of the 13 year old field, private owners have decided to proceed with temporary runway restoration at a cost of about $35,000. Renovation is expected to suspend airport operations for about two days but management expects more bang for the buck following completion of the repairs.

IT WILL almost be a case of brother fighting brother Friday night when the Conant Cougars battle Schaumburg's Saxons. Preliminary gridiron contests begin at 6 p.m. at Conant fields. Varsity teams are scheduled for 8 p.m. May the best town (oops) team win!

GLASS RECYCLING efforts in Hoffman Estates have produced $900 thus far in 1972. The reclamation center, sponsored by the village Environmental Concerns Committee, is open second and fourth Saturdays at the old village hall, 161 Illinois Blvd.

The committee plans to use recycling profits for community beautification purposes. Newspapers, as well, may be deposited at the same site daily.

IT'S A darn shame all that handsome charm will be so wasted on a men's group with U.S. Rep. Phil Crane visits Schaumburg Rotary Friday. For brave gate crashers only (all welcomed by Rotary) . . . remember, it's 12:15 p.m. at Holiday Inn, Rolling Meadows.

LATE BIRTHDAY greetings to everybody's favorite Schaumburg village engineer . . . Joe Zgonina. Much continued happiness also to Fran and Bill Brilliant, of Hoffman Estates, who celebrate their 11th wedding anniversary this week. Send greetings, too, to Emma Redker, wife of Hoffman Estates treasurer Elmer Redker, who is at Sherman Hospital, Elgin, for a second time in recent weeks.

Another newsmaker is Bernard Dobrin, controller of Hoffman-Rosner Corp., who was elected to the additional post of company treasurer. Dobrin succeeds Robert H. Haag who continues as corporate vice president and secretary.

THE URBAN, much-around Schaumburg Roy Levitt says he prefers the Bohemian credit plan. "Everything down and nothing each month is the way it's handled," he says.

Civic Leaders To Be Approached

Seek $4 Million For Area Hospital

Civic leaders in Schaumburg will soon be approached for an indication of their willingness to donate $4 million toward the proposed Schaumburg branch of Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center.

The Chicago-based hospital contracted last week with a consulting firm to study feasibility of a $4 million contribution toward construction and equipping the Schaumburg facility. Conducting the study will be John Grenzebach & Associates, Inc., Chicago.

Also, a director for the planned hospital is to be named within days. The director, who will be charged with coordinating activities leading to construction and occupancy, has been chosen, although a hospital spokesman yesterday declined to reveal the identity. The director and his background will be announced "probably sometime this week," the spokesman said.

According to the original hospital plan announcement, Schaumburg is to finance one-third of the facility costs, with Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's contributing the remainder. Total estimated costs are $12.5 million. The pending survey is to determine whether the community financing is feasible.

THE SCHAUMBURG hospital, a 200-bed facility, is to be built on a 20-acre site south of Schaumburg Road donated by A. Harold Anderson of J. Emil Anderson & Sons, with construction over a three-year period. The Rush Presbyterian spokesman said actual construction is "contingent on community support."

Concerning the study, the spokesman noted "there is an obvious need. The community has requested we do this. Part of the acceptance has to do with the community's ability to raise this $4 million."

The study will not involve most residents of Schaumburg, the spokesman suggested. "My guess is that they would attempt to identify community leadership and approach this leadership," he suggested.

WHILE THE HOSPITAL spokesman estimated the study would be conducted over a six to 12-week period, Grenzebach officials reportedly have set a three-week timetable.

A similar study is to be conducted simultaneously in Park Forest South, where another branch of Rush Presbyterian is proposed.

While much information was gathered before the initial Schaumburg branch announcement, functions the director will perform will include contracting for soil tests, architects and planners, said the hospital spokesman.

Slaying Suspect Wants To Defend Self

by TOM VON MALDER

Lee C. Jennings, accused of murder appeared in criminal court yesterday and immediately asked for a change of venue for his trial, even to an out-of-state location.

Jennings, 29, who, police said, allegedly admitted killing Barbara Flanagan and her baby daughter, told Judge Robert J. Sulski he did not want a public defender and would represent himself.

"I DO NOT WANT this case heard in Cook County or anywhere in this state," Jennings said.

Judge Sulski told Jennings his motion was "out of order at this time" and continued the preliminary hearing to Oct. 17. Jennings was again refused bail.

Besides the two murder charges, Jennings is also charged with burglary and unlawful use of a weapon in connection with the Marriott Hotel incident. Police said Jennings was carrying a knife in his pocket when arrested.

THE FLANAGANS' nude and beaten bodies were found Sept. 11 in the Community Presbyterian Church parking lot, 407 N. Main St., Mount Prospect. A coroner's inquest Friday established that Mrs. Flanagan died from a blow to the head and her 18-month-old daughter Renee died from choking while being sexually assaulted.

According to Mount Prospect Police Chief Bert Giddens, Jennings' verbal confession was made to Mount Prospect Patrolman Patrick Hallihan, who along with Detective Dennis Leonard have been specifically assigned to the case. Giddens said of Jennings, "This man would not talk to anyone but Pat Hallihan."

Although Chicago police apprehended Jennings, the resulting murder charge was "a joint effort," according to Mount Prospect Police Sgt. Ralph Doney, who heads the detective division. Jennings was arrested about 5 a.m. Saturday when security men at the Marriott Motor Hotel, 8535 Higgins Rd., saw him peering through windows into third floor guest rooms. They found two credit cards belonging to a hotel guest in Jennings' possession.

Chicago police and burglary investigators noticed Jennings resembled a composite picture drawing of the Flanagan murder suspect. Jennings' car, a light blue 1966 Pontiac, also fit descriptions given by witnesses.

THE DESCRIPTIONS were given by a bus driver who saw the two Flanagans get into a car Sept. 9 at the CTA bus terminal at Milwaukee and Imlay ave-

Need Adults To Aid In Hockey Program

A "man hunt" is being conducted by the Hoffman Estates Park District so boys can participate in the park district's first organized hockey program this fall and winter.

Al Binder, director, said the park district is starting a hockey program for boys in fifth through eighth grades. But, to do so, adult help is needed, he added.

Anyone interested in helping with advice or time is asked to call the park district at 529-8600.

Binder said the first year of the program will be dedicated to teaching players how to skate and play.

Although organized game schedules will be adhered to the major concern will be instruction.

The $6 fee per season per boy will include head guards and helmet, knee and shin guards and goalie equipment. The fee will also cover the expense of instruction and officials' fees.

Games will be played at High Point Park in Hoffman Estates.

2 Years Probation For Elk Grove Man

Edward Seaman, 22, of Elk Grove Village, was found guilty and placed on two years probation last week in the Elk Grove Village branch of circuit court on charges of possession of dangerous drugs.

The charges stemmed from a drug raid on a village apartment in April. A hearing for Barbara Deutsch, 20, who was arrested on similar charges in the raid, was continued to Oct. 25.

Board Snatches Comptroller's Office From Barrett

by ROGER CAPELLINI

In two quick steps yesterday the Cook County Board snatched control of the county comptroller's office away from County Clerk Edward Barrett and then effectively fired Deputy Comptroller James Gaughan, one of Barrett's proteges.

During the same county board meeting County Commissioner Floyd Fulle of Des Plaines called on the board to adopt a resolution which would prohibit the hiring of any consultants by the county without first gaining board approval.

The series of actions came in the wake of disclosures last week that Gaughan retained the former county comptroller, C.

R. Hodgman, as a $200-a-day consultant the same day Hodgman resigned under the pressure of scandal in the office.

Hodgman announced his resignation from the comptroller's job in a letter to Barrett May 15, stating he was resigning for health reasons and that he had completed training Gaughan to be his successor.

At the time of his resignation, Hodgman was earning $29,346 a year.

THE WEEK prior to his resignation, however, the Better Government Association disclosed conflicts of interest and other serious irregularities in public aid office leases negotiated by Hodgman's office. It was also revealed Hodgman is director and part owner of an electrical contracting company which obtained more than $225,000 in remodeling work required by leases negotiated by Hodgman.

Last week it was learned that the same day Hodgman announced his retirement, he was rehired quietly by Gaughan as a consultant. Hodgman reportedly was paid $200 a day under what Gaughan called, "verbal, day-to-day," contracts which were never presented to the county board for approval.

Yesterday, near the conclusion of the county board's finance committee meeting, County Board Pres. George Dunne asked the board to approve an ordinance stripping the clerk's office of its control over the comptroller's office.

The five-page ordinance, in effect, retains the same duties and responsibilities of the comptroller, but makes that official answerable and responsible to the county board rather than the county clerk, an elective office.

The ordinance was approved by the board by a 12-0 vote, with three commissioners absent.

Dunne said it was inconceivable to him that the county clerk should control the comptroller's office but, at the same time, has no responsibility to the other county departments.

DUNNE ADMITTED to reporters the Hodgman situation "precipitated" the action, then added, "We have to take action like this to protect the public."

Technically, Barrett was the county comptroller, according to state statute, with Gaughan holding the title of Deputy Comptroller. In practice, however, Gaughan functioned as the county comptroller.

When the finance committee meeting adjourned and the commissioners reconvened as the county board, Dunne asked the commissioners to designate Thomas

Beck as the acting comptroller of Cook County, which had the effect of firing Gaughan.

The board approved the appointment, which meant, as Dunne put it, "Gaughan is gone."

When asked about the appointment, Dunne said he felt the new comptroller should be, "someone away from the deputy comptroller or the comptroller himself." He said the substitution of comptrollers came as a "matter of form," in that Gaughan was an employee of Barrett and not the county board. He said he does not feel the change casts "any dispersions on Mr. Gaughan's integrity in any way," but admitted he could have appointed Gaughan to the post if he desired.

Dunne said he feels the contracts Gaughan negotiated with Hodgman circumvented all requirements for approval, but added he has not yet received a legal opinion on the "day-to-day contracts" from Hanrahan's office.

At the same meeting, Fulle proposed a resolution which would require, "all requests for hiring consultants, regardless of purpose or cost, be submitted to the county board," for approval before any such consultant be hired.

FULLE THEN suggested the resolution be referred to the Finance Committee for further study.

Beck, 33, has been employed in the comptroller's office for the past 12 years, most recently as business manager of the office.

Beck, who was in the audience when he was named the county's new comptroller, said he was completely taken by surprise at the appointment. "I had no idea they were going to pick me for the job," Beck said as he was whisked into Dunne's office immediately after the announcement.

Deputy Comptroller Will 'Stay On Job'

James Gaughan, deputy comptroller of Cook County until he was replaced by county board action yesterday, said he will ignore the ordinance adopted by the county board and will continue in his job.

Gaughan replaced C. R. Hodgman as the county comptroller May 15 when Hodgman, target of widespread criticism over conflicts of interest in his office, resigned, citing health reasons.

In the past week, however, Gaughan became the target for the criticism when it was learned he quietly rehired Hodgman, the same day Hodgman resigned, as a $200-a-day consultant.

In the wake of that scandal, the county board, at the suggestion of County Board Pres. George Dunne, yesterday adopted an ordinance which, in effect, took the control of the comptroller's office away from the county clerk and gave it to the county board.

In making the switch, Dunne and the board also replaced Gaughan by appointing Thomas Beck, business manager of the comptroller's office, as acting comptroller of Cook County.

SPEAKING OF THE new ordinance, Dunne said he originally proposed the change in authority and responsibility in December, but that the matter has remained in the board's finance committee because of its questionable constitutionality.

Yesterday, however, Dunne said, "I felt in light of what has been taking place we should do it right now."

Dunne said he feels the county has the authority to take such action under home rule provisions of the state constitution, despite a legal opinion from State's Atty. Edward Hanrahan that the ordinance is unconstitutional.

Dunne said yesterday, "We believe we are on firm ground. If anyone wants to challenge it, they can take it to court."

Contacted yesterday afternoon, however, Gaughan told the Herald he has no plans to vacate his office.

Gaughan explained the comptroller's office, by state statute, is under the control and jurisdiction of the county clerk and that the county board has no authority to take away that control.

Gaughan cited the legal opinion from Hanrahan's office, dated Dec. 13, 1971, which states the county board does not have the authority to remove from the county clerk his statutory authorities.

"The state statute and the county ordinance are in conflict," Gaughan said. "And that means the state statute takes precedence."

GAUGHAN SAID he considers the new county ordinance to be null and void. "We have the state's attorney's opinion it is invalid and they have no one's opinion that it is valid," Gaughan added he does not plan to take the question to court.

Vincent Bentivenga, chief of the civil division of the state's attorney's office, agreed with Gaughan and said the opinion of his office remains that the county board does not have the authority to take the comptroller's office away from the county clerk.

Bentivenga said it appears a declaratory judgment from the county circuit court may be necessary "in the near future" to settle the issue.

Dunne said, however, he has no intentions of initiating any court action. "As far as we're concerned," Dunne said, "it is the law of Cook County. There is one comptroller and only one comptroller."

Dunne said he does not feel there is a conflict between the county ordinance and the state statute.

When asked how he feels the matter will be resolved, Dunne answered, "Be patient and you'll see."

Candidates Favor Vote On Merit Selection Of Judges

Legislative candidates of both parties in the Northwest suburbs heavily favor a constitutional referendum on the question of merit selection or election of judges, and legislation to provide for merit selection to fill judicial vacancies.

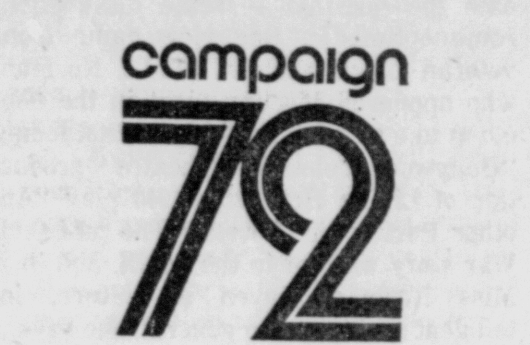

That was the result of a survey conducted by the Committee on Courts and Justice, headquartered in Hinsdale, which advocates both positions.

The committee polled all legislative candidates in the state, asking their positions on the referendum and the vacancy legislation, and also on whether they favored $100,000 for the Judicial Inquiry Board created under the new constitution.

Among the candidates replying to the poll (79 of 117 senatorial candidates; and 136 of 235 House candidates), all three propositions gained heavy support, from 64.5 per cent in the House for the selection legislation to fill vacancies, to 94 per cent of the inquiry board appropriation.

All senatorial candidates who replied in the 1st through 5th legislative districts, which encompass the Northwest suburbs, favored all three propositions.

Replies were not received from Clifford E. Leverage, Democratic candidate in the 2nd District; or John J. Nimrod, Republican candidate in the 4th District.

All House candidates replying also favored all three propositions, with the exception of Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights (3rd), who said she was undecided on the referendum on merit selection; Rep. John E. Friedland, R-Elgin (2nd), undecided on legislation for filling vacancies; and Rep. Richard A. Walsh, R-Oak Park (5th), who gave qualified support to the referendum question.

Not replying were Rep. Harold A. Katz and Donald L. Norman, 1st District Democratic candidates; Rep. Robert S. Juckett, Republican, and Rep. Aaron Jaffee, Democrat, candidates for reelection in the 4th District; and Francis A. Fannelli, Democratic candidate in the 5th District.

ROBERT L. Sklodowski, Republican candidate for clerk of the Cook County Circuit Court, has urged creation of "one or more" juvenile courts in the suburbs.

Sklodowski pointed out that 48 per cent of the county population now lives in the suburbs, but juveniles and parents who become involved with the Juvenile Court must go to Ogden Avenue and Roosevelt Road for hearings, often making repeated trips before a matter is settled.

Sklodowski also urged the creation of separate detention facilities for youngsters charged with such minor offenses as truancy, who now may only be placed in the Audy Home with juveniles accused of such felonies as murder, rape and drug pushing.

WHEELING TOWNSHIP Democrats opened a new election headquarters yesterday on the second floor of the Union Hotel, 124 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling.

The office will be staffed from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, according to James L. McCabe, township committeeman. The organization also has offices at 205 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights.

CANDIDATES FOR the state Senate in the 4th Legislative District, Democrat Thomas W. Flynn of Niles and Republican John J. Nimrod, also of Niles, will appear together in a "debate" before a PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Old Orchard High School, 9300 Kenton Ave., Skokie.

Nimrod, former state legislator and Niles Township Republican committeeman, recently replaced Sen. John W. Carroll of Park Ridge on the Republican ballot.

WILLIAM HODGE and Anton John Valukas of Palatine, and Alderman Stephen J. Eberhard of Rolling Meadows have been named area vice chairmen in the campaign Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy.

They will work under Roger Bjorvik, Palatine area chairman.

CLIFFORD LEVERAGE of Elgin, Democratic candidate for the state Senate in the 2nd Legislative District, will conduct a "youth party" from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 15, in Barrington High School.

The rally will feature music by two groups, "The Mode," and the "Symphonics," and Leverage will be on hand to discuss issues with young voters.

SAMUEL H. YOUNG, Republican candidate for the U.S. Congress in the new 10th Congressional District, has named George M. Hilgendorf as community campaign co-chairman in Winnetka.

Hilgendorf, a resident of Winnetka, is a partner in the Arlington Heights law firm of McKenna, Scovil, Gannon & Hilgendorf. He is also president of three corporations operating Barnaby's restaurants, and a director of the Paddock Corporation.

U. S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, has announced the assignment of three of his staff members to his reelection committee.

Mrs. Evelyn Hines, manager of Crane's Mount Prospect office since his election in 1969, has taken a leave of absence to direct the campaign office at 309 S. Rohlwing Road, Palatine.

Administrative Assistant Edwin J. Fuelner and Press Assistant Edward D. Murnane will divide their time between congressional responsibilities and the campaign, with their congressional salaries adjusted accordingly, according to Crane.

Fuelner formerly was on the staff of Secretary of Defense Melvin J. Laird; Murnane is former political editor of Paddock Publications.

'Ginny' Could Be A Tour Guide

by CINDY TEW
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — If Virginia Macdonald should lose her current battle for a third District House seat, she could always take up quarters in Springfield anyway — as a tour guide.

The candidate visited the capital city Friday along with Wheeling Township Committeewoman Veva Meyer to attend a seminar for Republican women volunteers from around the state. She also managed to take a few hours out of the seminar to take a wistful look at what may become her home away from home.

"I sat right there, next to that column," Mrs. Macdonald pointed out the seat in the old capitol building she used when she was a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1970. Many sessions were held in the old capitol, now a museum, and Ginny remembers well the sense of history that accompanied the framing of a new constitution.

Mrs. Veva Meyer

She also remembers the humorous events that provided a little comic relief to the long con-con sessions.

"The janitor told us that one family came into the building, and stayed and stayed, watching one of our sessions," Mrs. Macdonald said. "Finally the janitor asked the family what intrigued them. They told him they were waiting until the play ended — they thought we, sitting in the old hall of representatives, were part of the scenery."

Toting a heavy briefcase, Ginny also walked several blocks to take a quick look into the new state capitol building, especially at the vacant House of Representatives.

"SEATING IS ON a seniority basis," said Mrs. Macdonald as she leaned over the visitor's gallery to have a better look at the last row of desks on the right side of the hall.

Mrs. Meyer, campaign manager for Mrs. Macdonald, is confident of her candidate's victory.

"This is a Republican area, so there's little doubt that both Republican candidates will be elected," said Veva.

The candidate herself, however, isn't so confident of victory Nov. 7.

"The voters are going to be discerning this election, they're going to be looking at the individual more than the party, I think," Ginny said. "My election is no sure fire thing."

So far she has spent about $4,000 on the campaign, and expects to end up spending about $6,500, all of which has been raised by district residents. She has also been on the campaign trail daily, talking to people precinct by precinct.

Noting that there are only two women currently in the house (one of whom is Eugenia Chapman, D-3rd), Mrs. Macdonald says that people are looking over women more carefully these days and taking them more seriously.

And anyone who thinks women are still only thinking of housework and husbands these days need only attend a women's seminar. Though the volunteer seminar was a very basic description of the importance of volunteerism to the Republican cause, the discussion topics around the room were far from gossip.

MARY McDONALD, Lincolnwood, went through a long political argument listing reasons she would run for, and probably win, the next open seat on the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

Leslie Arends, Senate Republican whip who spoke at the women's gathering, was not about to take the women lightly, either. He gave them facts and figures from the defense budget to the Vietnam war and explained the President's policies amid alternate clapping and note taking.

But the seminar wasn't all facts and figures. Women from across the state joked with each other about local campaigns. One woman asked Ginny how the campaign was going and suggested that if she needed a few extra votes, that she "had a direct line to St. Anthony."

But Ginny isn't taking any chances. Her seven-day-a-week campaign has left her with worn out shoe leather, dark circles under her eyes, and several votes in her pocket.

An Election Day Certainty

by ROBERT KIECKHEFER
There's one thing you can say for sure about election day 1972 in Illinois: Taverns will be allowed to open for the first time during voting hours.

And, when the dust settles from this confusing election campaign, many a politician and voter may seek a bartender's sympathetic ear.

With little more than a month until election day Nov. 7, the state political scene still is littered with unanswered questions and the debris of some bloody intraparty fighting, especially in the Democratic ranks.

It has been a wild, mostly unpredictable political year, with repercussions of unprecedented events echoing uncertainty around the state. As a result, politicians ply their profession, pounding the pavement and pressing people's palms, knowing little of what is going through the voters' minds.

IT WAS CLEAR in January that this would be no common year in Illinois politics. Already Daniel Walker had completed his 1,200-mile walk, proclaiming his independence of "Mister Illinois Democrat" — Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley — at virtually every pace.

Things only got wilder as Walker defeated Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, Daley's choice for governor, and Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, dumped by the Daley organization, won nomination without the backing of his old machine.

Then, just as it appeared Daley was making at least an uneasy peace with Walker and settling to work in earnest for the ticket, came the events of the Democratic National Convention.

Not only was Daley banished into the political night after his years as king-maker, but the convention then chose as its presidential standardbearer Sen. George McGovern — a man who has rubbed Daley the wrong way for years.

State Republicans, meanwhile, were cruising through calm waters, peacefully renominating Richard B. Ogilvie for governor and Richard M. Nixon for president.

By any traditional standards, the Democratic party should have been in terrible trouble, fragmented and nursing its wounds while the GOP pulled as one toward a statewide sweep.

AS DEMOCRATS LOOKED up from the shambles of their primary, they found Walker leading Ogilvie in early polls. Further, Michael Howlett, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, appeared ahead in a close race with his opponent, Edmund Kucharski, and Hanrahan looked strong in Cook County.

On the other hand, one question mark after another appeared on the horizon as the summer waned. Nixon, for instance, seemed to command a wide lead in the state. But few dared predict what impact his popularity might have on other races.

The uncertainty stemmed from an apparent willingness on the part of voters to cross over from one party to the other or to split their ballots. Walker's primary victory, for instance, was attributed partly to a large number of Republicans switching primaries to vote for him.

A related question was what would happen to those candidates at the bottom of the state ticket if ballot-splitting became widespread. Those hopefuls, such as the candidates for the new office of comptroller, often count on straight-party ballots to give them a cushion.

Then, too, both Democrats and Republicans wondered what role a wounded Daley would play in the last month of the campaign. Publicly, the mayor said he supported the whole ticket but, with a presidential candidate he disliked and a gubernatorial candidate who won nomination partly by renouncing him, many wondered how strong that commitment would be.

Those doubts were reinforced by some of the mayor's lieutenants who stated flatly they would not support McGovern.

KC Elects Polvere As State Warden

Black Actors Doing Great

by RICK DuBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Not many years ago, a chief goal of black show business performers was to establish a prominent and modern view of black persons on the movie and television screens. Today blacks are more visible in motion pictures and video, and in some cases convincingly depicted. But as in all major breakthroughs where big money is involved — as it is with the sizable black audience — some new problems have arisen to replace the old ones of just getting established.

As an instance, some shady talent agencies took advantage of inexperienced, would-be black performers seeking theatrical presentation because of the new demand for more Negro actors and actresses.

Then there is the accusation nowadays by some black rights groups that the movie industry is exploiting their race in tawdry ways, by projecting an image that emphasizes a seamy, loose side of life.

Interestingly, because video's new freedom with subject matter is far less extreme than that of the movies and stage, television, with all its faults, may be helping the black cause more than any other entertainment medium. The images it projects nationwide are comparatively moderate.

ARTISTICALLY, the home screen may be secondary in this area, but socially the national impact, on a less extreme basis, may be far more significant and, in fact, a needed balance to the movies and stage.

In the 1960s, when blacks made a big breakthrough in films and video, they demanded that they no longer be portrayed primarily as menials. Today the movie controversy centers on the frequent depiction of blacks at the other extreme of life.

Television has been taking some steps toward a truer representation of blacks. As one example, Aaron Ruben, producer of NBC-TV's "Sanford and Son," a comedy about a black junk dealer, said a while back he would add black writers to the show to "get deeper into the black experience."

movies, black performers continue to debate the question — some dissatisfied, some optimistic. One view came from veteran black actress Maide Norman, who appeared Monday night in the non-commercial network's outstanding "Hollywood Television Theatre" production of Lillian Hellman's 1946 play "Another Part of the Forest." The post-Civil War story was set in the South, and in it Miss Norman played a mature, intelligent maid, but, in general, she says:

"Today it's just about impossible for a black actor or actress to get a role as a menial in movies or TV ... to me, there's nothing dishonorable in portraying a maid or a nurse — depending on how the role is written ..."

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Academic note: The University of Hawaii is offering a course, "Survival 494," that requires students to attend classes all semester without using a car.

Now that's what I call being tested in the crucible. And if they ever need a guest lecturer, I know where they can find a volunteer.

"Good morning, students. Our lesson for today is 'How To Remain Alive Without Headwaiters.' I would advise you to take notes because when class is over we will be going on a field trip.

"You will be taken into the city and handed a list of restaurants where the patrons must find their own tables and seat themselves.

"YOUR ASSIGNMENT will be to obtain a complete meal in these primitive surroundings, entirely unassisted by a maitre d'hotel. Any questions?"

"The young man in the second row.

"You want to know if I can think of any situations in which there might be an actual need for this type of survival training? Definitely yes.

"Not many months ago in a large American city, union waiters went on strike. Headwaiters and other supervisory personnel were then pressed into service as food handlers.

"Without headwaiters to greet them and check their reservations, many diners became badly rattled and confused. They milled around the velvet ropes in utter bewilderment. Some panicked.

"There was widespread hunger throughout the city and numerous cases of malnutrition. Only an early settlement of the strike prevented manifold starvation.

"THE INSTRUCTIONS you receive here will enable you to subsist for days should you be caught in a similar emergency.

"Let me say by way of preparing you for the ordeal that existing in a headwaiterless society is partly psychological.

"Draw strength from the knowledge that in clawing its way to the top of the evolutionary ladder humankind has become amazingly resourceful.

"Today, thousands of people get along without valet service, and the upstairs maid is vanishing at such a rate as to border on extinction.

"The human race is, of course, still dependent on taxi drivers, hotel doormen, airline stewardesses, elevator operators and hatcheck girls.

"But if a group of college students can get to class an entire semester without automobiles, humanity is more self-reliant than most of us realized."

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Has any average been established as to how long women who suffer with "hot flashes" have to suffer from these freaks of nature? At my last check up I asked my doctor about this question and he asked if I was on any medicine and I told him no, I don't want to take hormones. Then he snapped "Well then I just won't tell you." He's tried to get me to take hormones for several years but I have a great fear of cancer and don't know enough to argue with this doctor who I feel is very competent otherwise.

My fears may be groundless but I am still afraid of the medicine. I thought if he would just tell me that these hot flashes would last just a few months more I could tough it out, and then it would be all over. They are really bad at night. Sometimes I awaken with one of these "things" about to hit and I grab for the fan, if I'm still not clutching it from the last one. I'm 52, and had my last period about a year ago and have been having the flashes about a year also.

Dear Reader — The duration of hot flashes varies. Some women are not bothered noticeably by them, others have them only a few months and others experience them for a year or longer. It's unpredictable.

There has long been concern that the use of female hormones could cause cancer. The evidence that supports this is rather meager. The problem is that lots of women develop cancer of the breast and female organs anyway and would do so even if they weren't given additional female hormones.

In recent studies, there is some evidence to suggest that the women on female hormones are less likely to develop cancer of the breast than those who are not. Some of the old "sacred cows" on this idea are under attack with well designed research studies questioning some of the previously readily accepted ideas. Similarly, there is some evidence now that the reason women smokers don't develop cancer of the lungs as is commonly noted in men, is because female hormones protect the lungs. Neither of these studies, however, have any relationship to the use of hormones in women who already have cancer. So the subject is still wide open but lots of women use female hormones and don't have any subsequent difficulties because of the hormones. Incidentally the dosage used to help women through menopause is usually relatively small.

NOW YOUR doctor has other reasons for wanting to give you hormones besides just hot flashes. A small amount of female hormones will help protect the sexual organs, preventing drying out and subsequent inflammation problems common to older women who are deficient in female hormones. There is some evidence that at least in some women, female hormones may be helpful in preventing fatty deposits in the arteries and heart disease although this problem is more complicated than that. Then female hormones help to prevent the gradual thinning or dissolving of the bones that occurs frequently in women past the menopause. These changes lead to the humped back, loss of weight, and other skeletal changes. So just enduring the hot flashes alone isn't the only question to be considered.

Harper Turns More Than 1,000 Away From Courses

More than 1,000 potential students were turned away from 11 career training programs this fall at Harper College.

In a report to the college board of trustees last week, Robert Cormack, dean of the career programs, said students were turned away from all the medical programs and from such varied fields as fashion design and criminal justice.

This is the first year Harper has had to turn away students outside of the medical field, Cormack said. "I was surprised at some of the areas. People are opting into career programs," he added.

Students who must be turned away from the program of their choice, Cormack said, are generally counseled by the college staff about the chances of getting into the program in the future.

Cormack said, "I know there are a number of students who are taking general education courses this year hoping to get into our nursing program."

The main reason students had to be turned away, he said, is lack of classroom and laboratory space. The science wing, now under construction at the college will relieve overcrowding in the nursing and other health fields, he added.

PLANS ARE BEING made to expand the number of career programs offered next year, he said, even though a vocational-technical building, which would further relieve overcrowding, is still several years away.

"We may be able to lease some facilities or put up temporary housing," Cormack said. "Career programs are approaching 50 per cent of the enrollment of the college and our need for more space is becoming acute."

Fields which turned away students this year, including the number applying and number selected, are:

- Nursing, 440 applied, 120 accepted.
- Dental hygiene, 315 applied, 49 accepted.
- Fashion design, 88 applied, 64 accepted.
- Licensed practical nursing, 135 applied, 45 accepted.

Vets Can File With Olsen

Military veterans can file their discharge papers with Cook County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen as a means of avoiding lengthy delays in collecting benefits.

Olsen's office will file the papers at no cost to the veteran.

The recorder says his office receives many telephone calls and letters each week from veterans or their families inquiring about military discharge papers that have been lost, misplaced or accidentally destroyed.

The discharge paper or a certified copy of it must be presented when a veteran or next of kin applies for social security, pensions, insurance, disability or burial payments or survivors benefits from the Veteran's Administration.

The document is also necessary when a veteran seeks government backed home loans or home improvement loans, tuition and allotments under the GI Bill to attend college or university or technical school, extra credit on civil service examinations and for job training and employment.

'The Correspondent' 5th In Competition

The Hersey High School student newspaper, "The Correspondent," placed fifth recently in a competition for newspapers serving schools with more than 1,000 enrollment.

The contest, conducted at the ninth annual University of Wisconsin-Whitewater High School Newspaper Conference, involved judging of three consecutive issues of each paper.

First place winner in the Hersey division was the Nicolet High School paper, from Milwaukee, Wis.

Hersey Elects Officers

The following students were elected freshman class officers last week at Hersey High School: Angelo Maltezos, president; Brent Kauffman, vice president; Jane Kunzie, secretary; Albert Belmonte, treasurer; and student council representatives Joelle Peterson, Lynn Frey, Beth Rebmann, and Judy Evertson.

Area Hospitals Get Blood Donor Lists

A computerized listing of volunteer blood donors has been provided to Northwest suburban area hospitals by the Cooperative Blood Replacement Plan.

The service is designed to enable hospitals to keep supplied with enough blood for their needs. A new volunteer donor incentive program to assist in meeting critical shortages in the future also has been set up.

Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines, Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village and Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge are included.

According to Dr. Frank Trobaugh Jr., president of the Cooperative Blood Replacement Plan, a not-for-profit organization, the computerized donor listing service could total an estimated 165,000 names by 1973 or about 13,500 per month. DR. TROBAUGH said a new Illinois law, stating that blood must be labeled "purchased" or "volunteer" means many physicians will fear using purchased blood because of future liabilities.

He added that since 40 per cent of the total blood supply needed in the Chicago area comes from paid donors a volunteer program would meet the need.

The incentive program includes a free six-month gift certificate to all persons who replace blood for friends and relatives at any of the 58 hospitals and blood banks involved in the program.

The gift certificate enables donors to get blood replacement at no cost to him or his family for six months. Dr. Trobaugh said, "In this way we can easily give more blood to renew his free coverage, thus providing additional blood supplies."

"It is our hope that a fraction of our healthy citizens will consider it a civic responsibility to donate blood," Dr. trobaugh said. "In this way we can easily supply the 250,000 units needed in our community. Pre-placement of blood through the Cooperative Blood Replacement Plan will eventually overcome the need for replacement blood. All of us will

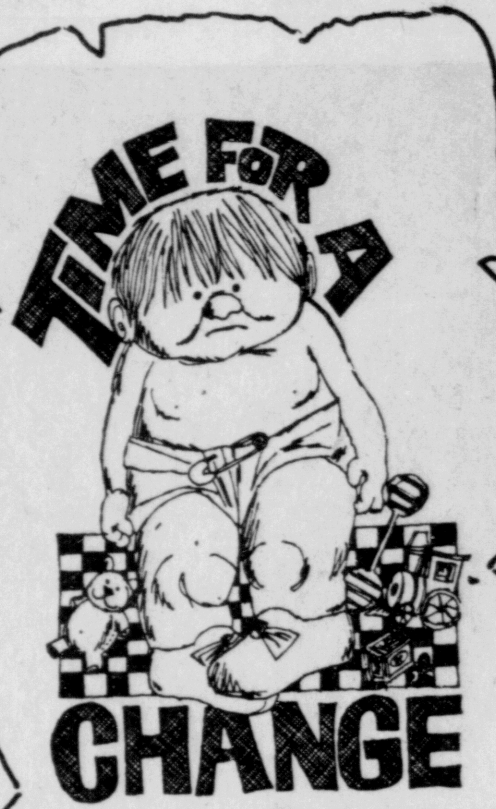

If the original papers are not filed with the county recorder a veteran may have to wait for copies from the Illinois Veterans Commission in Chicago or the Military Personnel Record Center in St. Louis before he can receive veterans benefits.

Olsen files the discharge papers for free and gives the veteran one certified copy free of charge. Additional copies are available from the recorders office at $1.25 each.

1,900 Boys Become New Cub Scouts

More than 1,900 boys became Cub Scouts at a recent scouting night held at schools throughout the Northwest suburbs.

Each school was staffed by volunteers who explained the purposes of scouting and gave information on how to join. As part of the school night program, new scouts will receive a free certificate and welcome letter from McDonald's Family Restaurant.

note that there is a possible club-spade squeeze but that he should give up a trick to establish the squeeze situation.

The only place to give up a trick is in clubs so South wins the heart lead in dummy and leads a club to his jack.

There is another extra chance here. East might hold both the king and queen of clubs and might not play one of them.

The last chance does not come off. West wins the club and leads a second heart.

Now it is up to South to cash all his top cards in hearts, diamonds and clubs. Maybe the squeeze will develop.

It doesn't, but something else does. South watches the fall of the cards. He sees East discard on the second club and fourth heart and West discard on the third diamond. This gives him a perfect count of the East hand Three hearts, five diamonds, one club and four other cards which have to be spades.

Now South cashes dummy's king and queen of spades and finesses against East's jack in complete safety.

Disney World Great For Sportsman

by MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor
ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — If you're planning to take kids to Disney World, don't forget to take along your golf clubs, tennis rackets, and swimsuits as well as the Mickey Mouse hats.
They bill the 27,400-acre Disney property in central Florida as "The Vacation Kingdom of the World." So why not take advantage of the varied recreational facilities on the site?
For instance, there are two 18-hole championship golf courses — the 6,924-yard Magnolia, site of the annual PGA-sponsored Walt Disney World Open, and the 6,706-yard Palm, both par 72s. Open to the public, green fees are $10 per person plus $10 for an electric golf cart. Clubs can be rented and pros are available for lessons.
Tennis courts and tennis shop are reserved for guests of the Contemporary Resort and Polynesian Village hotels on the grounds. Fees for the courts, open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., are $1 per hour in the daytime and $2 per hour in the night time. Rackets can be rented for as low as 50 cents and semi-private or private lessons can be arranged with a pro.

Easier Pace For Disney World Now

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. — Fall will set an easier pace at Walt Disney World as the Magic Kingdom goes on a 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily schedule.
For the first time in nearly a year, during Florida's lightest tourist season, the new Vacation Kingdom can be seen in a leisurely fashion, but with many special nighttime entertainment features planned for resort hotels, beaches and campground areas within the complex.
Newest fall attraction is nighttime performances of the Walt Disney World of Water ski show starring Disney characters, aerial kite flyers and young men and women skiers.
Western campfires, New England clambakes and Polynesian luau are among the many outdoor dining opportunities in the evenings, plus dinner dancing and star-name shows at the Top of the World restaurant in the Contemporary Resort hotel.
Showboat cruises aboard an old-fashioned paddlewheel steamboat with cocktails and dance music, nightly fireworks and an Electrical Water Pageant of sea monsters are among many other nighttime entertainment activities in the fall.

SKI SHENANIGANS — Goofy is just one of the famed Disney characters who join in daily water ski shows at Walt Disney World's Vacation Kingdom. Goofy doesn't really need helping hands, but he's not about to turn them down when they belong to such lovely water lassies as Walt Disney World's ski hostesses. Fall operating schedule at Walt Disney World adds an after-dark water ski show to other special entertainment activities. (WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS)

October's Great In Florida

'Get Away From It All'

by JOICE VESELKA
MIAMI, Fla. — Football in Miami — a state fair in Tallahassee — a country music festival in Tampa — the circus in Sarasota . . . and sunshine over all.
No matter how you look at it, Florida's October calendar of events offers an exciting change of pace for the northwest suburbanite who wants to "get away from it all."
From seafood and forest festivals to drag machine and canoe races, from rattlesnake roundups and greased-calf scrambles to German beer fests and Czechoslovakian folk celebrations, the activities spell fun and festivity for all.
A TASTE-TEMPTING array of oysters, shrimp and other delicacies of the deep await the visitor to the Oct. 28 Seafood Festival in Apalachicola, an annual tribute to that city's leading industry.
The succulent foods are featured in a noon meal. Other activities include an oyster-shucking contest, a crab race and a parade of decorated shrimp boats.

Miami Offers Unusual Animals For Visitors

by DAVID BERKOWITZ
MIAMI, Fla. — Animals, whether they swim, crawl, walk or fly, find Greater Miami's subtropical climate ideal and provide visitors with a chance to view many rare and different species.
The many animal-oriented attractions invite visitors to enter Nature's realm and come face-to-face with apes, sharks, cobras, lions, as well as those of a more gentle nature. Settings for the attractions closely duplicate the natural environment of the animals.
The Crandon Park Zoo, operated by the Metropolitan Dade County Parks and Recreation Department, numbers among its 1,200 inhabitants species representing the far reaches of the world. Admission is free.
Two attractions south of Miami take advantage of the area's climate to produce natural jungle-like environments where the animals are free to roam or fly about while people are caged.
THE MONKEY Jungle, a 19-acre home to hundreds of wild Asian and South American monkeys, approximates the rain forest conditions of their natural homes.
Hundreds of tropical birds make their home in another tropical forest environment. The Parrot Jungle, a 12-acre attraction of shaded walkways and exotic trees, features macaws, parrots, cockatoos, flamingos, cranes and ibis representing species found in South and Central America and Africa.

As with the Monkey Jungle, many of the residents of the Parrot Jungle are trained to perform various tricks and delight in amusing visitors.
Visitors to Greater Miami's Serpenterium can rely on a suspense-filled performance when director William Haast milks one of many venomous snakes on display.
The Miami Seaquarium, featuring the world's largest collection of tropical fish and marine life — over 300 different species — permits visitors to observe them in tanks, aquariums and inlets as they would be found in their native habitats.
Located on Virginia Key and easily accessible by the Rickenbacker Causeway, the Seaquarium is home to Hugo, the killer whale and his bride Lolita.
An hour's drive from Miami is Everglades National Park, third largest in the National Park System. The area is rich in wildlife and subtropical vegetation, virtually unchanged for countless centuries.
EVERY EFFORT has been made to keep Everglades National Park as natural and as typically Florida as possible. Rare and exotic birds as the snowy egret, roseate spoonbill, wood ibis, bald eagle and several species of heron along with various land animals, fish, and the ever present alligators.
In addition to nature trails, the park offers recreational activities, overnight accommodations, and marina facilities at Flamingo. camping facilities, picnic tables and charcoal grills are available at sites near the Royal Palm Station.
Another park with animals in their natural environment is John Pennkamp Coral Reef State Park, lying midway between Key Largo and the Gulf Stream. More than 40 varieties of Atlantic Coral and 1,200 species of fish are found in the 21-mile long and four and a half-mile wide underwater paradise.
Those who do not have their own boat and are not divers, can drive South on U.S. Highway No. 1 to Key Largo and the park "entrance" where several glass bottom boat trips are offered for varying lengths and prices.

Since timber makes poor eating — except perhaps for termites — seafood also is the bill of fare at the annual Florida Forest Festival in Perry, Oct. 27-29.
The meal, billed as "the world's largest free fish fry," is complemented by activities more in keeping with the forest theme: chainsaw competition for the Southeastern Championship, forestry exhibit and the King Tree Parade.
In San Antonio, northeast of Tampa, Eastern diamondback rattlesnakes and land turtles share top billing for the annual Rattlesnake Roundup and International Gopher Race Oct. 21. On festival day, following a month-long reptile "roundup," the snakes are featured in a show which includes venom-milking demonstrations and special exhibits.
The gopher races star the burrowing land turtle that Florida natives call gopher. Their shells gaily decorated by owners or sponsors representing various areas and foreign countries, the turtles compete in races to determine the World Championship title.
ALTHOUGH LESS dangerous than rattlesnakes, greased calves nevertheless present quite a challenge to the youngsters attempting to throw them, rodeo style. The unusual event, the annual Calf Scramble, is slated Oct. 14 in Starke. In addition to the title event, the program includes a greased-pig scramble for girls and a chicken scramble for small children.
In Cape Coral, southwest of Fort Myers, the German-American Social Club presents its annual Oktoberfest Oct. 7 and Oct. 21.
In Masaryktown, a small Sun Coast community named for the first president of Czechoslovakia, a special Czech Independence Day celebration is slated Oct. 29. Young people attired in native costume perform the colorful Beseda folk dance, and national food specialties such as strudel and kolacky pastry are served.
The list of October activities goes on and on. Stephen Foster Memorial, on the banks of the Suwannee River at White Springs, sponsors the "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair" auditions Oct. 27-28.
In Pensacola, the historic plaza where Andrew Jackson received possession of Florida for the United States is the site of the Plaza Ferdinand Sidewalk Art Festival, Oct. 14-15.
Other events throughout the state include the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, Destin, Oct. 1-31; Fishing Festival, Fort Lauderdale, Oct.-April; Bonefish Tournament, Islamorada, Oct. 9-13; Sailing Regatta, Melbourne, Oct. 14-15; Interstate Fair, Pensacola, Oct. 16-22; Sidewalk Art Festival, Kissimmee, Oct. 21-22; Billfish Tournament, Fort Lauderdale, Oct. 27-29; Powerboat Regatta, Oldsmar, Oct. 30; and North Florida Fair, Tallahassee, Oct. 31-Nov. 4.

TRAVEL LORE

by Clare Wright,
TRAVEL EDITOR

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — This is a fun place, but if you want to take a good look at Puerto Rican life — get out of town!

The best day to get out into the countryside is Sunday — when the Puerto Ricans have the same idea. They're picknicking in El Junque Rain Forest and enjoying the beaches at Luquillo, Palo Seco and Las Croabas.

Any day of the week you can drive just a short way out of San Juan and feel twentieth century city life fade away.

Hertz has cleverly put together a booklet of one-day trips from San Juan, so visitors can get a good look at the island — and know what they're driving through. This booklet is available at Hertz rental offices in San Juan, or by writing before your trip to Hertz International, P.O. Box 717, Lindenhurst, N.Y. 11755.

Rental cars are plentiful in Puerto Rico — but so are tourists during the winter months. So reserve a car ahead of time. Your travel agent can reserve a car at the same time he takes care of airplane and hotel space.

Small hotels dot the island and even in season — mid-December through April — can be bargains. But call ahead for reservations.

Mayaguez, smack in the center of the western coast of Puerto Rico, is 99 miles from San Juan. It's quite a needlework center. You can buy lovely embroidery here.

It's also the site of the University of Puerto Rico's Nuclear Center and School of Agriculture and Engineering, a terrific zoo and the Federal Experiment Station, full of exotic trees.

Accommodations here include the swank Mayaguez Hilton and the lesser-priced La Palma Hotel.

If you're traveling with the family, we suggest you drive on down the coast a few miles and stay at Boqueron, a quiet haven where there are cottages for rent you won't read about in guidebooks.

The Boqueron Vacation Center is a cottage colony operated by the Parks Department. The cottages, scattered in a lush palm grove, have two bedrooms, living room, bath, kitchen and private patio, and rent for $7 a day. Only family groups can rent these cottages and only for a period of not less than two or more than seven days. For information, write to Boqueron Vacation Center, P.O. Box 149, Boqueron, P.R. 00622.

Set on a lovely palm-fringed beach, these simple cabins are an ideal getaway-from-it-all refuge. The soft sand beach stretches all the way around the cove to the town of Boqueron — a pleasant ant walk for small shopping expeditions.

In town you can rent motor or sailboats and set out to fish from the lovely bay. The Puerto Ricans love this area — those who know about it — and it's nearly impossible for mainlanders to get accommodations during the summer months. But then — it's during the winter months that most Norte Americanos head for Puerto Rico.

Meeting the people isn't hard in Boqueron. Everyone speaks English — as nearly everyone does all over Puerto Rico — though they prefer to have the tourist habla espanol!

Oscar Marales runs the charming 20-room Villa Del Mar Hotel in Boqueron. He has spent all his life in this lovely little town and can guide tourists to the right people to help them fish, snorkel, sail or go crabbing.

Oscar treats his guests like "family" and his menu always features freshly caught fish. He charges $10 year-round for a large room with two double beds, private bath and air-conditioning.

We hope you have time to drive further along the southwest corner to the charming, "unspoiled" fishing village of Parguera.

Here you can rent fishing boats and tackle at the Villa Parguera overlooking Phosphorescent Bay. At Warren Tappan's you can rent canopied U-Drive-It motor boats for $15 a full day and $10 for a half-day, which includes snorkeling gear, spear gun, ice and water.

Great seafood (fresh, of course!) is available at the Villa Parguera or in a number of unpretentious little shacks where they really know how to grill lobsters and fry pescado.

El Cemi, the San German handicraft gallery, has a branch in Parguera, but the big attraction is spectacular Phosphorescent Bay.

Be sure to take a motor boat tour of the bay. If you happen to be there during the dark of the moon, it's a dramatic sight when every ripple of the boat's wake is stitched with quicksilver flames of light.

Wherever you drive in the Puerto Rican countryside you'll find local folk friendly and helpful.

Stop at a roadside stand for a coco-frio — cold coconut in its pre-ripe stage. The milk is quite a delicacy. Your purchase might require some sign language because the aged, unschooled stand owner may be one of the few Spanish-only Puerto Ricans you'll run into. But he'll know why you've stopped — and he'll stand there smiling as you taste Puerto Rico's answer to coke.

One sip of the chilled coconut milk and you'll know you're far from home.

Family Fun In Ireland

Children Like Ponies And Castles

PONY TREKKING — or riding pony traps or jaunting cars makes for great fun on a family vacation in Ireland. Susi and Billy rode "Shannon" and "Charlie" through the famous Gap Of Dunloe in County Kerry — while Mom and Dad chose the pony trap for the eight-mile journey

by CLARE WRIGHT

ENNIS, Ireland — Ask our kids what they liked best about our recent vacation in Ireland and they'll reply:

"The ponies and the castles!" But they also liked the slow, easy-going pace as we wandered about the peaceful Irish countryside — meeting warm, wonderful people never too busy to be friendly — never too wound up in work to stop for a chat.

"It's so nice and relaxed here," remarked Billy, who at "going on 13" is already getting ensnared in a routine of schedules, deadlines and pressures.

Americans traveling in Ireland — even if they're following a set itinerary — soon find there's something sedating about a country where nobody gives that much hoot about timetables and such. Not as much as we do anyway.

BESIDES BEING the only independent Celtic community left on earth, it's just possible Ireland is also one of the last sanctuaries of serenity in a frantic world dedicated to bustle and bedlam.

That's the Republic of Ireland. The Irish "disturbances" you read about are confined to Northern Ireland and have no effect on people traveling in the tranquil southern part of the Emerald Isle.

In some ways right now is a better time than ever to visit Ireland. They knock themselves out to make you feel welcome — and the top tourist attractions aren't as crowded.

We were well aware of this as we arrived at Kate Kearney's Cottage, at the entrance of the Gap of Dunloe, just outside Killarney. In past years during the tourist season this spot bustled with activity — with most of the 130 ponies and 60 pony traps busy.

That bright morning, however, Billy and Susi had some 75 choice ponies to pick from. They chose "Shannon" and "Charlie."

Mom and Dad elected to make the eight-mile round trip via a pony trap.

OUR GENIAL jarvey was Jimmy O'Meara. Chatting with this humorist-philosopher — yarn spinner as we jiggle-jogged through the magnificent gorge proved almost as memorable as the marvelous scenery of massive rocks and turbulent streams on either side of us.

Half-way along the trip O'Meara stopped our small caravan so we could try out the echoes which reverberate eerily among the rocks and hills.

We would have liked to tarry longer in the Gap of Dunloe — but we had castles to explore.

In the sleepy market town of Rathkeale, on the River Deel, we looked up Col. Sean O'Driscoll and his Castle Matrix.

This persevering architect-historian had searched diligently over Ireland for an O'Driscoll family castle to buy — then settled on the ruins of one of the 14th century castles of the earls of Desmond. He has dramatically restored it and serves medieval banquets to special groups. Future plans call for an arts and

IRISH NIGHT at Bunratty Folk Village features songs and dances and folk tales as old as Ireland — as visitors gather around a peat fire in a village farmhouse. The folk village is on the grounds of Bunratty Castle where medieval banquets are served twice each night along with special entertainment.

craft center and theatre on the castle grounds.

After visiting Matrix Castle we headed for Ennis — with Billy and Susi counting castle ruins along the way.

Our hotel in Ennis was the gracious, vine-covered Old Ground.

AFTER CHECKING in we drove to Bunratty Castle to attend its famous medieval banquet.

Before entering the accurately restored, 15th century castle — once the residence of the O'Briens, Earls of Thomond — we stopped at Old Bunratty Folk Park.

Here was Ireland of another century. The children were enchanted with the furnishings in the reconstructed thatched-roof farmhouses and fisherman's hut — each of a different vintage.

Inside the castle's great hall colleens in medieval costume served mead and apple cider as we listened to Irish ballads. Then we proceeded to the dimly-lit banquet hall where the children had a surprise waiting.

"You mean we really get to eat with our fingers," questioned Susi.

SURE ENOUGH. The sumptuous banquet — served in the manner of long ago lords and ladies — was partaken with a small "dagger" our only cutlery.

You don't have to spend much time in Ireland to be caught up in its legends. All around you as you drive through the country stand ruins of castles, friaries, old churches and graveyards that must hold within them fascinating sagas — if you had the time to tarry.

Someday I hope to go back — and do just that.

Fremd and Palatine, the top two cross country teams in the Mid-Suburban League, showed why Saturday morning as both won large, invitational meets outside the area to head a list of eight outings involving league schools.

The Vikings are unbeaten for all meets, including two invitationals, while in the league Palatine has lost only to Fremd. The Pirates have bowed to three other state-ranked powers outside the MSL. Fremd and Palatine both won by impressive margins Saturday.

Other conference entries participating in invitationals were Arlington, Conant, Schaumburg and Rolling Meadows while Wheeling and Prospect were dual-meet winners.

Here's the weekend rundown:

VIKINGS WIN UP NORTH, ARLINGTON FOURTH

Fremd traveled out of the state to easily win the Janesville Invitational which included some of the better teams in Wisconsin.

The Vikings had a total of just 40 points in a meet that included 17 teams and 119 runners. Next best was Rockford Guilford with 61. Arlington also was impressive with fourth place on 132 points.

Vike coach Ron Menely was "extremely pleased" with his gang. "It's the best race we've run by far," he enthused. "We had only a 13-second spread for our top five men which is tremendous for an invitational that big. It's a lot different than doing that in a dual."

Jamie Olson led the closely-knit pack with 12:18 for fifth place. Following in the next three places were Chuck Rupenthal with 12:20, Steve Inbody with 12:22 and Mike Rohrer with 12:24.

Ken Geheb took 14th with 12:31, John Miller 24th with 12:49, Jeff Stitt 29th with 12:51 and Brad Wydeen 49th with 13:12. Touted Paul Sewell of Rockford Guilford was the winner, about 20 seconds ahead of Olson.

A big date is coming up for the Vikings this Saturday at the Peoria Invitational, so power-packed that it is like a little state meet. It will even be at the same site as the state final. Other top-ranked teams in the state which will be there are No. 1 York, No. 2 Maine East and No. 5 Peoria Central. "If we can be in the top four, we have a shot at the state title" declared Menely.

Arlington might have finished even higher than its fine fourth place, but its finest runner lately, Tom Holub, was ill and not able to run. Neil Haseman turned in a fine 12:37, however, for 18th place.

The other six Arlington runners were packed fairly well. Bill Schmid had 12:47, John Lerchenfeld 12:48, Dave Jenkins 13:00, Mike Haeman 13:06, Bob Skolnik 13:11 and Greg Hansen 13:15.

The Cardinals also were fourth in the B race as Doug Cuzzort led the way with 13:25.

PALATINE RULES AT BARRINGTON, MEADOWS ALSO RUNS

Palatine took the top prize in the nine-team Barrington Invitational over a three-mile, wet Thunderbird Country Club course and Rolling Meadows took part in the same meet.

Scott Williams paced the Pirates with fifth place in 16:05 and Paul Kearns was close behind with 16:09 for eighth. Dave Tehle was 10th in 16:14, Steve Peterson 12th in 16:21, Bill O'Neill 16th in 16:30, John Thullne 19th in 16:45 and Rick Scholl 21st in 17:01.

Winner of the sophomore meet was Palatine sophomore Carl Kiewert in 16:57 and Pete Kearns led the freshmen with fifth place.

Rolling Meadows' varsity was headed by 22nd-place Rick Jensen, followed by John Kreutzer, Craig Dahlquist, Jerry Porters and Mike Suerth. The Meadows sophomores were fourth, led by second-place Jim Conroy with 17:12 over three miles in tough conditions ("This was our top individual performance of the year," said coach Bob Rees). The frosh were sixth with Steve Lehman leading in eighth place.

CONANT FIFTH AT PEKIN

On a very hilly, challenging three-mile course at Pekin, coach Jack Ary's Cougars finished fifth among 14 teams. Peoria Central, ranked fifth in the state, was the winner and New Trier West took second.

Dave Mansolf paced Conant with 16:35 for 16th place, Steve Watron was 24th with 15:47, Kent McDill 25th with 16:49, Bob Everly 27th with 16:51, Rick Jensen 21st with 17:09, John Bond 32nd with 17:11 and Ron Golubski 38th with 17:20.

The Cougar frosh-soph squad, a very strong unit when the two classes are grouped together, was the title of its division with an impressive 45 points to 63 for runner-up Illinois Valley Central. Sophomores Dave Elderkin and Ron Beber were third and fourth, respectively, and freshmen Steve Lind (ninth), Jeff Olsen (11th), Sam Cox (18th), Brian Regan (24th) and Dave Gibson also had a hand in the victory.

JACKSON SHINES FOR SAXONS

In his toughest test to date, Schaumburg's remarkable junior Arnold Jackson held on to his undefeated status for all meets (including, now, four invitationals) by beating some sparkling competition in the Oak Park Invite.

This enabled Schaumburg to finish 10th among 22 schools. Lane Tech was the winner with a closely-packed bunch, followed by Oak Park and Crystal Lake.

Jackson turned in a 15:01 time, the best out of about 150 runners on another wet, three-mile layout. Crystal Lake's heralded Bill Santino was second. His excellent prior performances made Jackson's victory significant.

The next-highest Saxon was Mike Carey with 24th and others were Ron Healer, Doug Warlick and Mike Istok.

Races were also held on three other levels. Schaumburg took 12th in the junior varsity affair, eighth in soph and fifth in frosh. Respective leaders were Steve Peterson, Mike Palmer and freshmen Mike Moran with a fine third and Dave Porzel with sixth.

WHEELING DOUBLE DUAL WINNER

Wheeling took a pair of non-conference duals over Lake Forest and New Trier East by extremely close margins of one and two points.

Individually, New Trier had the winner with a 14:48 time over a 2.8-mile course but Wheeling had three of the next four places against both schools. Steve Wilhelm was second overall in 15:17, Bruce Messenger fourth with 15:20 and Jeff Schuster fifth with 15:21.

Other Wildcats were Jim Leper (15:51), John Messenger (16:50), Terry Keene (16:30), Paul Scheffel (16:46), Jim Juleson (16:54), Ron Broadhead (17:30) and Peter Piet (18:29).

Wheeling's frosh-soph also won over both schools, by identical 25-32 scores. Top man was second-place Mike Cormack with 16:19 for 2.8 miles.

Harper Runners Sharp In Double-Dual Wins

Harper College claimed its first conference victories, made its record 4-0 and ran its two-year dual winning streak to 20 with a double-dual cross country triumph at Oakton.

The Hawks' scores of 20-35 over Oakton and 19-40 over Elgin kept alive their streak in which they have not lost a harrier dual since October, 1970.

Bill Bates, a former Forest View runner, provided the top highlight by not only winning the race but setting a new course record, 20:57 for four miles. "That is an outstanding time for only our second meet of the season," praised coach Bob Nolan.

Ron Hankel, a Prospect grad, deserves about as much credit as he was just two seconds behind Bates. Mike DeLaBruere was fourth against both teams with 21:37, Tom Klinker from Prospect was fifth with 22:19, Larry Cyrier (a late addition from Elk Grove) was 12th with 23:54, Mike Mills took 14th with 25:15 and Brian Rehman placed 17th with 26:44.

"It was really a fine meet for us," enthused Nolan. "We had tremendous improvement in times. Since it was the first conference meet the guys were up men-

SKIP PETERSON, former Hershey High School All-Stater, picked up 40 yards rushing and scored a touchdown on a one-yard plunge Saturday for Purdue in the Boilermakers' 35-14 loss to Notre Dame.

KNIGHTS TRIUMPH

By taking the top two places, Prospect was a 23-32 dual-meet victor over Maine South.

On a wet (naturally), 2.75-mile course at Prospect, Don Burger won in 14:59 and Mike Tyre was second with 15:08. Mike Skelton's 15:18 was good for fourth, Rich Reithal's 15:22 for sixth, Brian Pomrenke's 15:36 for 10th, Tom Nemec's 15:47 for 12th and Rich Podgorny's 15:38 for 15th.

Despite Keith Spacapan's individual triumph (15:33) on the sophomore level, Maine South won that meet 21-38. South also took the frosh affair although Greg Tobiaz of Prospect won in 13:46 for 2.3 miles.

Abbate Captures 3 Firsts In Aurora Karate Tourney

Steve Abbate, an ex-police officer at the Rolling Meadows Police Department, recently captured three first-place trophies at the Third American-Okina-Karate Championships in North Aurora.

Abbate is a second-degree Black Belt who will soon be promoted to third degree by the International Council of Black Belts — a new organization developed to promote the art of Karate.

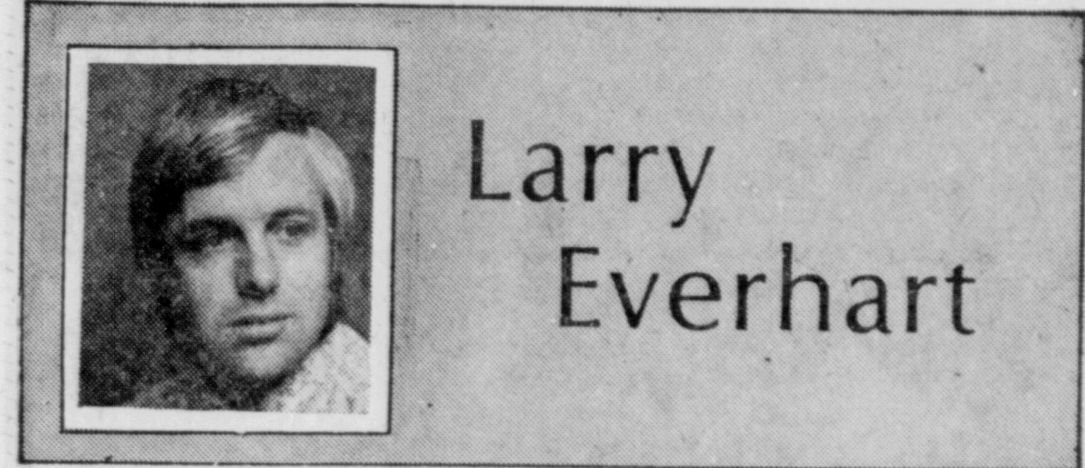

For his first trophy, Abbate defeated all competitors in Kata, the self-defense technique, against four attackers. Then Abbate went on to beat some of Illinois' top Black Belt performers in the fighting division to take another first for his Cobra Kai Karate Club.

At the conclusion of the tourney, Abbate competed with other Black Belts in board and brick-breaking. Abbate successfully broke four boards in four different directions in three seconds to win his third first-place trophy.

One of Abbate's students, eight-year-old Danny Condroski, fought several opponents older than he to capture a second-place trophy in his very first Karate competition.

Abbate is currently teaching self defense for the Rolling Meadows Park District on Wednesday nights and will be hosting his own Karate tournament at the Sports Complex on Sunday, Oct. 15 at noon where several Karate Clubs will compete. There will also be a weapons demonstration and a mock battle of Black Belts in the ancient days of Japan.

Strong Hopes For Grid Playoff

IT'S AN OLD issue that has been kicked around for a long time but is gradually working toward a final decision in the near future — certainly this year.

It's the question of whether to adopt a football playoff system for high schools in Illinois.

Such a playoff already exists in the majority of states in this country and seems to be looked upon favorably by most fans — at least those speaking out — both in this state and elsewhere.

And, when you think about it, why should football be any different from systems in other sports? There are, of course, series of eliminations in every other prep sport to determine a champion, and these have existed for years.

Can you imagine the basketball season, for example, stopping cold until the following year after the conclusion of league play? Think how much would be missing without that gripping time of year called "March madness" with the shrieking crowds at every stop on the tourney trail, the Sweet Sixteen and Elite Eight and thrilling final games.

And think how much similar excitement could be packed into the waning days of the fall, with every game a titanic, do-or-die struggle. Sure, there's plenty of interest stirred up by championship games and the Mid-Suburban League took a commendable step two years ago by adopting a North-South Division playoff to insure a final title game every year.

Yet, even all of that mania would be magnified if there were state finals. For proof, just ask fans in other states which have them now, or Chicago prep buffs who get hysterical and pack Soldier Field for the City championship game every year. These mean so much more than a conference title, as nice an honor as that is.

As a high school fan for years, I have always hoped for a playoff system and wondered why one was never adopted. And I am convinced just by many conversations with other fans and coaches that the overwhelming majority also is in favor. If there are people who are against the idea, they must not be very vocal.

Reasons I have heard by playoff advocates for their thinking do not end just with fan excitement and interest — though, as I'm sure the IHSA realizes, this is always an important factor since it is the fan who picks up the tab for all athletic programs in the form of either taxes or paid admissions.

Just as important, we must think of the players and coaches themselves. If they have a great season they deserve a further reward beyond local recognition in their own area. They deserve the chance to play for the top state wide prize. After all, they have worked their tails off since August — and for many, even longer than that.

True, some of the top state teams in the past have been recognized by "mythical" titles which are determined by newspaper polls. And individual all-stars are chosen by several bodies as well. These are fine honors, but again, they can't compare with the thrill of proving excellence on the playing field.

In our own area in and around the Mid-Suburban League, we don't have to think back far to recall powerhouses which might very well have made a lot of noise in a state playoff.

How would those powerful Arlington teams have fared against others outside the area in the undefeated seasons of 1970, 1968 and 1966? How about other champions with just one loss all season — like Elk Grove last year, or St. Viator and Conant in 1969?

We'll never know how far they might have gotten. But it sure would be nice to know how our best teams stack up from next year on.

In the interest of fair reporting, which implores presenting both sides of an issue, there have been views voiced against a playoff. They include a fear of overemphasis, distracting students from their school work, taking up too much time, interfering with the start of the winter sports season, the problem of playing sites and the possibility of added injuries.

In my opinion, none of these are valid except for possibly the conflict with winter sports. But the pros seem to far outweigh the cons.

For those of us still hoping for a change, there is good news. Slow but sure progress is being made. An 18-member committee of coaches studied the possibility of a playoff recently, thoroughly discussed it at many meetings and drew up a specific play for proposal. It was accepted by the IHSA Board of Directors and will be explained in detail to school principals, plus coaches and athletic directors who are available, at six meetings throughout the state a week from tomorrow (one will be at Arlington). There will be up to 150 at each division meeting, plus about 50 from the city, for a total of perhaps 800.

A vote will be taken for principals some time this school year, similar to the vote which passed the two-class system for basketball playoffs started last winter.

So the trick now is to sell the principals on the idea. I'm convinced the vast majority of coaches and athletic directors will be trying their best to do just that. Good luck, guys.

Herald Needs Help From Area Coaches

The Herald again will run a weekly listing of scores and scoring highlights for freshman, sophomore and junior-varsity football games at area high schools.

Area coaches are urged to cooperate and call in their scores and highlights to Keith Reinhard of the Herald Sports department at 394-2804 or 394-2803 between noon and 6 p.m. Sundays.

This includes all games played by freshman, sophomore, and junior-varsity teams in the Mid-Suburban League and by St. Viator.

Call on Sundays and your scores will appear each week in a regular area listing.

The Herald has set up this special service on Sunday afternoons and now asks for the cooperation of all area coaches.

Donahue Dazzles Defenses

Phil Donahue continues to dazzle defenses each Saturday afternoon.

The former standout quarterback at Palatine High School took charge and personally led his Ball State University football team to a 21-21 tie against Akron.

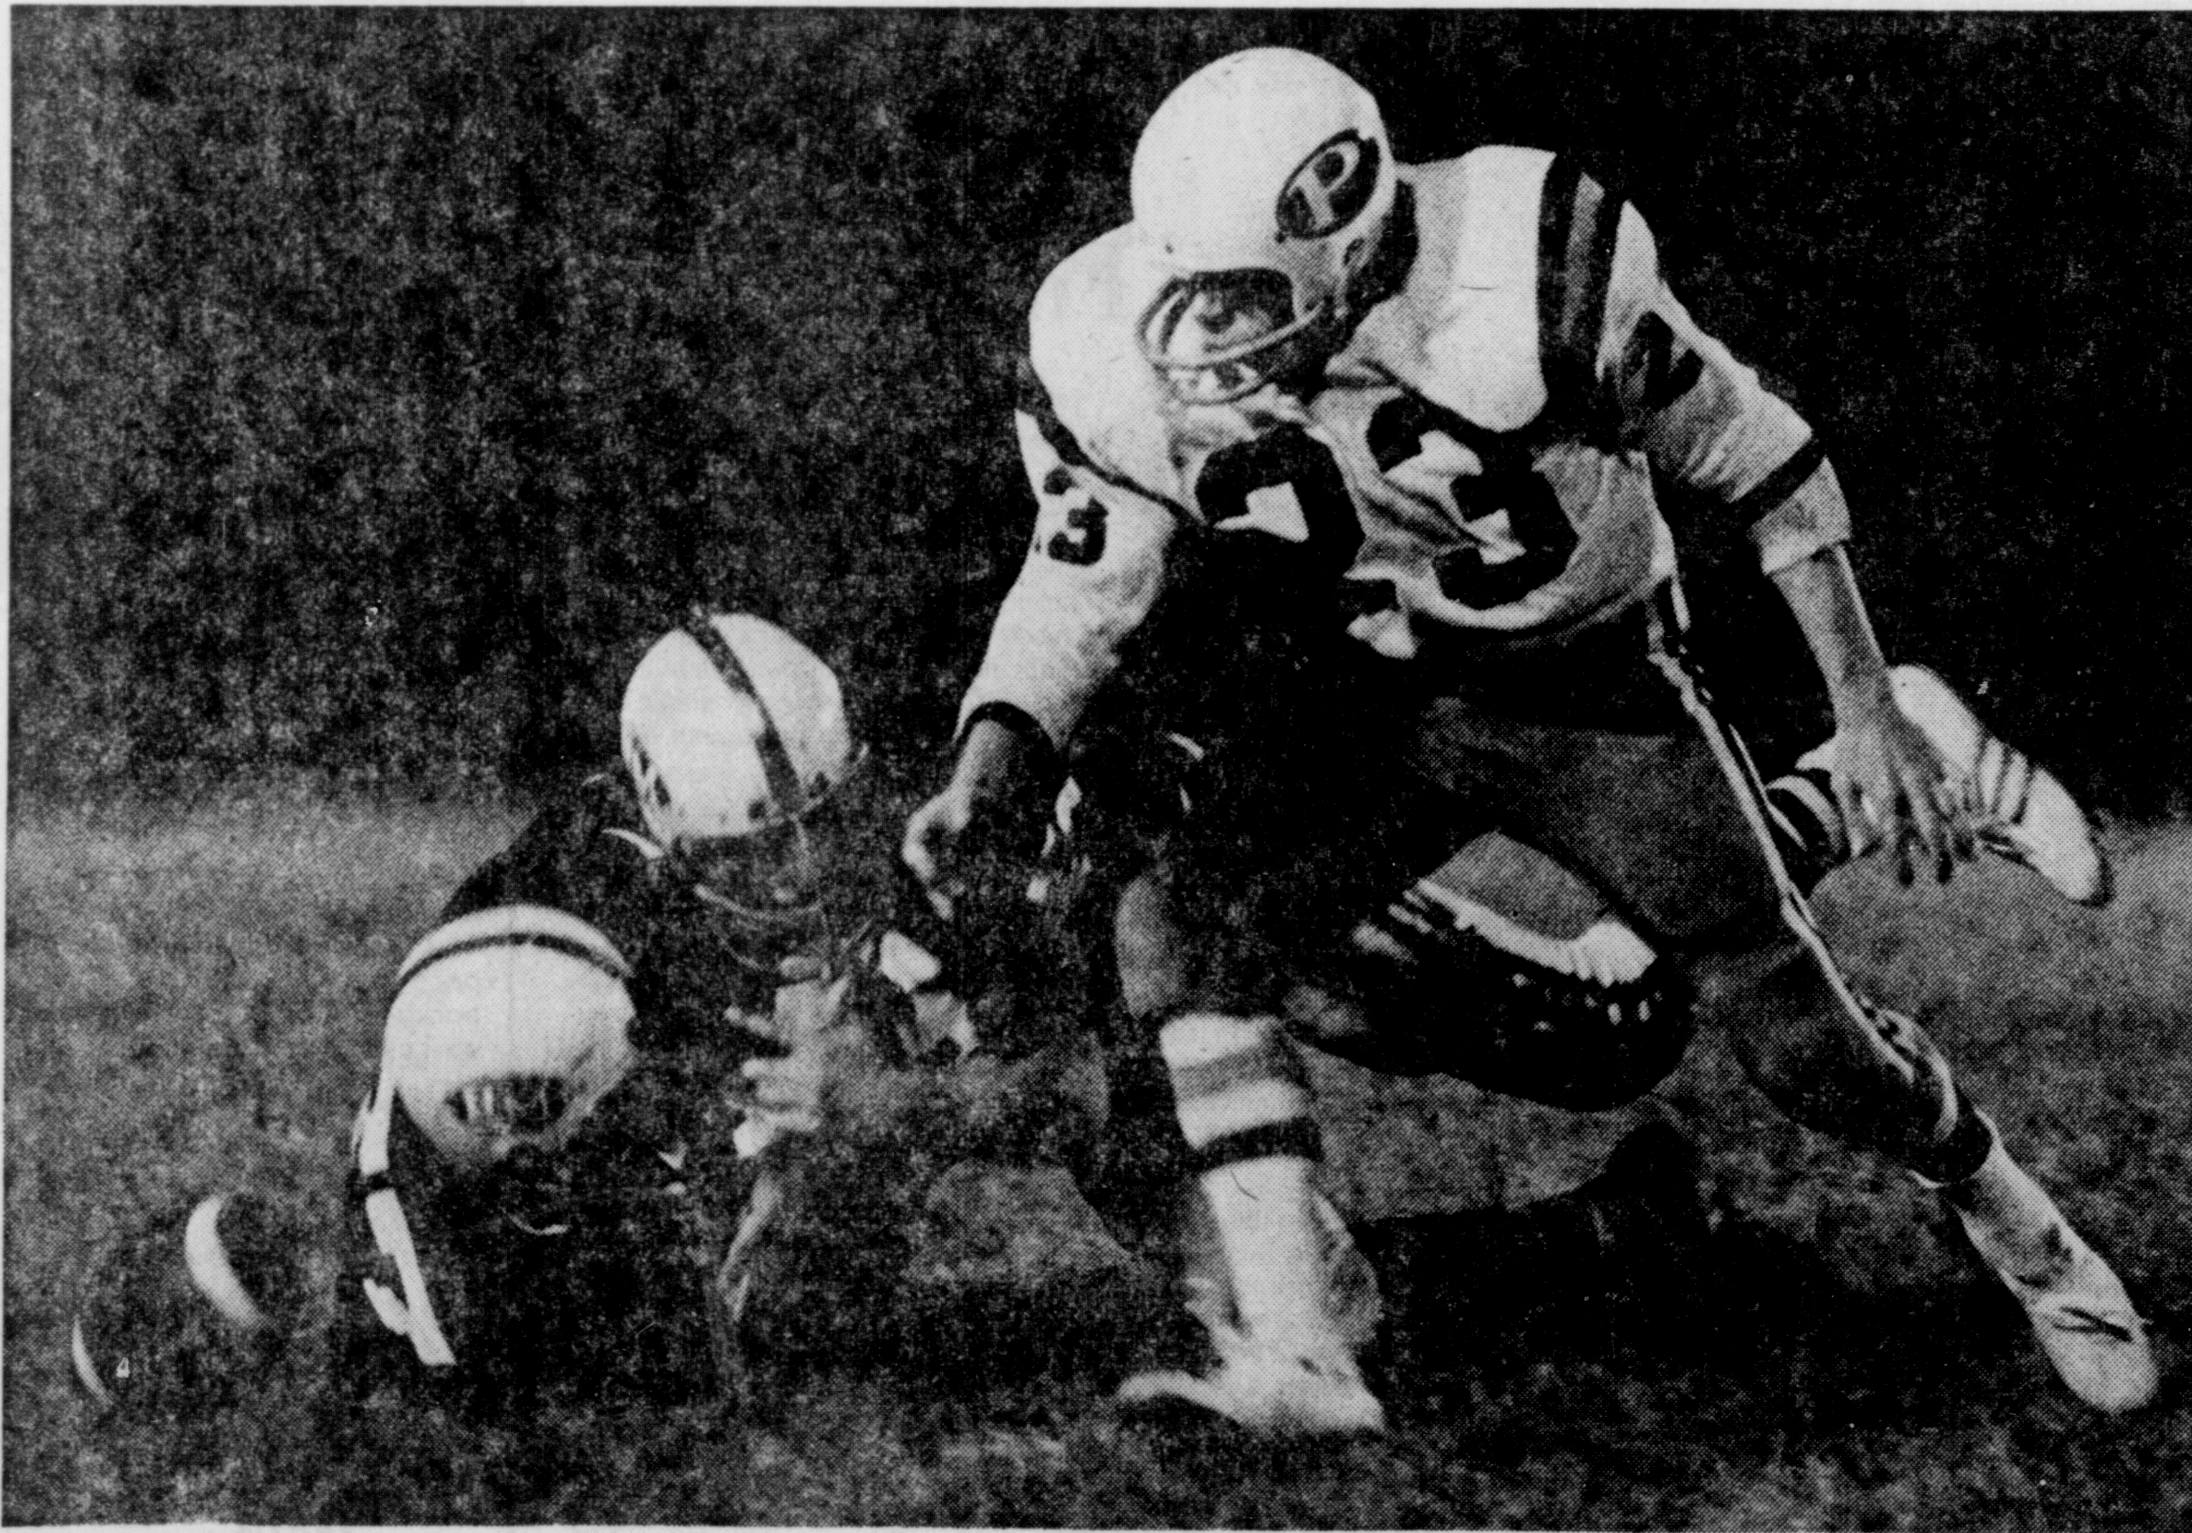

Donahue, presently in his third year as a starting quarterback at the Indiana school, came through in the clutch with a five-yard run which helped forge the tie.

More known for his passing than his running, the veteran signal-caller carried the ball 18 times for a net 100 yards. He also completed 6 of 13 for 41 yards.

Ball State, now 2-0-1, will take on always tough Indiana State University this weekend. Donahue has pulled out victories the past two years against this upcoming rival. He beat them 28-26 with a rally his sophomore season and threw for three touchdown passes in the final quarter last year for a 20-17 thriller.

Donahue has now accounted for eight of his team's 14 TDs — four on the ground and the others in scoring strikes. He's passed for 359 yards and rushed for 167.

ELUSIVE PIGSKIN. While two Rolling Meadows players squeeze the air, Prospect punt returner Rich Godinez spots his fumble only to have Mustang Rich Goeske beat him to the punch. The Meadows' recovery produced what eventually was the game's only touchdown as the Mustangs

Hawk Linksmen 3rd In Invite

Although they haven't played Lake County in a dual meet yet, Harper College's golfers are already suffering the frustrations of the "turncoat twosome" — Bob Winter and Chris Marszalek.

Playing in the prestigious Joliet Invitational last week, the Hawks finished third with a 330 total. Leading Lake County was Winter with a two-over-par 74 and medalist honors. Marszalek chipped in with an 81.

Pacing the Hawks was Steve Leggett with a very fine 77. His effort tied him for third in the medalist race. However, his teammates failed to crack 80 — Frank Penton 82, Mike Sutton 84, Scott Persson 87 and John Hansen 88. The latter's didn't figure in the final score.

Blackhawk College of Moline finished second, one stroke less than Harper. One stroke off Harper's pace was Lake County again. This college is so loaded with talent that its 'B' team fired a 331.

Despite the third at Joliet, the Hawks still enjoyed success late last week. The day after the invite they handled Triton, 308-324, in a Skyway Conference meet.

Coach Roger Bechtold's boys had their games in high gear as all four counting scores were under 80. Fenton led the pace with a five-over-par 75 over the wet Triton course. Sutton and Persson tied with 77s and Hansen had a 79.

Harper will try to protect its sparkling 3-0 SC mark when it entertains Waubonsee and McHenry this afternoon at Palatine Hills Golf Club. Waubonsee is 0-3 and McHenry is 0-2.

Missing the past couple of meets and plenty to come will be one of the best players on the team — Scott McMillion. The talented sophomore injured his right hand in a touch football game and is presently wearing a splint instead of a golf glove.

Conant's forward defensive wall was to say the least, formidable, when it went up against Elk Grove in 1969. The Cougars won 29-6 that day helped to some degree by the fact that the Grennies gained a minus 34 yards on the ground.

Last Hot Streak

The hottest the Chicago Bears have been since their last championship season in 1963 was two years later when they won nine of 10 games in one stretch. However, that '65 group dropped its first three games and its final contest for a 9-5 record, being edged by co-winners Baltimore and Green Bay in the Western

Raiders, Lombard Team In Deadlock

For the first time in seven years, Queen of the Rosary was held scoreless by Sacred Heart of Lombard as the two teams battled it out to a scoreless tie.

Both teams played strong defensive ball under muddy conditions. Sacred Heart did score a touchdown only to have it wiped out by a penalty. Next Sunday, the Raiders will host St. Joseph of Downers Grove at Lions park at 2:00 p.m.

Forrest's Fortitude

Former Green Bay Packer tackle Forrest Gregg holds the National Football League's all-time record for most consecutive games played, 188. His ex-teams, Jim Ringo, is second at 183. Jim Otto and George Blanda had the best streaks among active players, each having appeared in 168 straight games going into this season.

One By Land

The University of Texas has covered more ground by rushing than any other major college football team during the last five seasons. The Longhorns averaged 312.5 yards per game rushing from 1967 through 1971, while second place Oklahoma ran for 297.3. Houston, Arizona State, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Penn State, Michigan, Colorado and Dartmouth rounded out the top 10 teams during the period.

Pitchford Sidelined With Appendectomy

"I've never missed a practice or a game in 15 years of coaching. It looks like my record is going to be broken."

Tom Pitchford, Arlington High School's head tennis coach and presently assisting in varsity football, was lamenting the fact that he isn't going to be on the sidelines for quite some time. The reason — an appendectomy Saturday night.

Friends and coaching opponents alike can send their cards and letters to Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Papa Bear

George Halas of the Chicago Bears coached far more pro football victories than any other coach, 321. Curley Lambeau, with 230 wins, is a distant second on the all-time list and the leader among active coaches, Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals, had only 177 wins going into the 1972 season.

Ellsworth Continues To Lead Lion Runners

Ranging from good to bad to indifferent were St. Viator's cross country results from the last week.

After losing a 20-40 dual to Marist, the Lions got a free forfeit win over St. Joseph, then finished sixth in the nine-team Barrington Invitational Saturday.

Bill Ellsworth continued to be the bright spot individually, starting with the Marist meet when he set a new course record. He covered three miles in 16:26 under difficult conditions — hills, very wet ground and mosquito hordes. Ellsworth thus remained undefeated in dual-meet competition.

But as coach Ken Peck remarked, "Except for Ellsworth, we traveled a long way for no profit." Marist dominated with six places in a row after the winner, St. Viator's other times were 18:19 by Tom Orrell, 18:23 by Mike Chmela, 18:33 by Frank Liotti and 18:45 by Larry Chmel. Marist won the sophomore meet 35-34 as Mark Nelles was the Lions' top runner with 17:27 for second place.

Ellsworth was an excellent fourth among more than 60 runners at Barrington, finishing higher than any boys from Palatine, which won the team trophy. The Lion ace turned in a 16:04 performance on another wet, three-mile course.

Farther back in the pack for Viator were Orrell with 17:41, Chmela with 17:48, Chmel with 17:51 and Liotti with 18:08. All were better than 40th.

The Lions were fifth in frosh-soph competition with soph Nelles' 17:16 and Frosh Rich Carpenter's 12:18 (two miles) leading their classes.

St. Viator will keep busy this week, participating in a dual against Arlington and Schaumburg Tuesday and traveling to Holy Cross Thursday.

GOP Should Fight Fraud

Once again, the people of Cook County are being treated to hair-raising tales of massive vote fraud, stolen votes, ghost voters and falsified records which almost defy the imagination.

The charges, as usual, are levied at the Chicago Democratic machine which still maintains feudal control over a staggering number of election precincts.

And once again, the elected Democrats charged with overseeing elections are throwing up their hands, denying that they have any control over such shenanigans and disclaiming any knowledge of any wrongdoing.

Then, they indignantly add, the same kind of things go on in Republican-controlled downstate fiefdoms.

It is difficult to doubt that there are some instances of ballot manipulation in some Downstate areas. But it is equally difficult to believe that Democratic judges of election in rural communities are run out of their own polling places by physical violence or threats of violence.

This, Republicans testify, is what occurs in many Chicago precincts, where city police posted to protect the rights of voters often act in collusion with machine politicians to scare away Republican poll-watchers, leaving them free to do what they will with the voting machines.

While such tactics are difficult to visualize by those who have not been subjected to them, the massive intimidation indicated by the evidence in the latest Chicago vote scandal seems to support the contention that they indeed occur.

What remains to be puzzling is that these charges are made year after year in the same precincts against the same officials, and always after the ghosts have been resurrected to cast their votes and then again laid to rest.

If the pattern is so clear, and the problem so identifiable, one begins to wonder why it cannot be more readily anticipated and dealt with.

It is first of all the task of each party to supply the judges and to protect their own interests at the polling places. Recognizing that this task may be made not only difficult but dangerous, provisions are available to protect party workers in carrying out that duty.

If the Chicago police in some instances in fact collaborate in intimidating poll-watchers, the party can demand protection by the state police, U.S. federal marshals, or if need be, the National Guard.

The spectacle of National Guardsmen overseeing elections is at best a distasteful one in a free republic. But it is preferable to another debacle of stolen votes as we approach an election in which many close elections can be expected in Cook County.

With a Republican administration directing the Justice Department and a Republican governor in command of the state police and the National Guard, we hope they can take the necessary steps to bolt the cemetery gates before the ghosts get out.

Those Undecideds

Predictions before elections change, stretch the predicted margin, lower it, do one thing and another depending on who is predicting, and on behalf of whom.

But actually, doesn't it seem logical to reason that elections are decided by the undecideds, and in good part at the moment of entering the polling booth?

There are a whole lot of die-hards, Democrats and Republicans, who probably wouldn't vote for Jesus if he represented the other party. They are in the kitty for their party's "counted" votes.

They don't need any appeals or arguments. They don't heed any appeals or arguments from the other side. They vote "right" whatever.

But let's consider the undecided voter. A lot of them — maybe most — are undecided as they enter the polling booth. They have last minute thoughts: "Nixon has done as well as anyone could." "People say the country needs a change to a new order, a new politics." "McGovern . . . McGovern . . . you can't tell what he wants from one day to the next." "Should I take a chance on McGovern?" "Nixon is tested in the job."

How many voters do such reasoning right up to the last moment can never be known, but it's got to be a whole lot. If you go back to 1948 you remember that right up to election day you could get up to 25 to 1 odds that Thomas E. Dewey would defeat President Harry S. Truman.

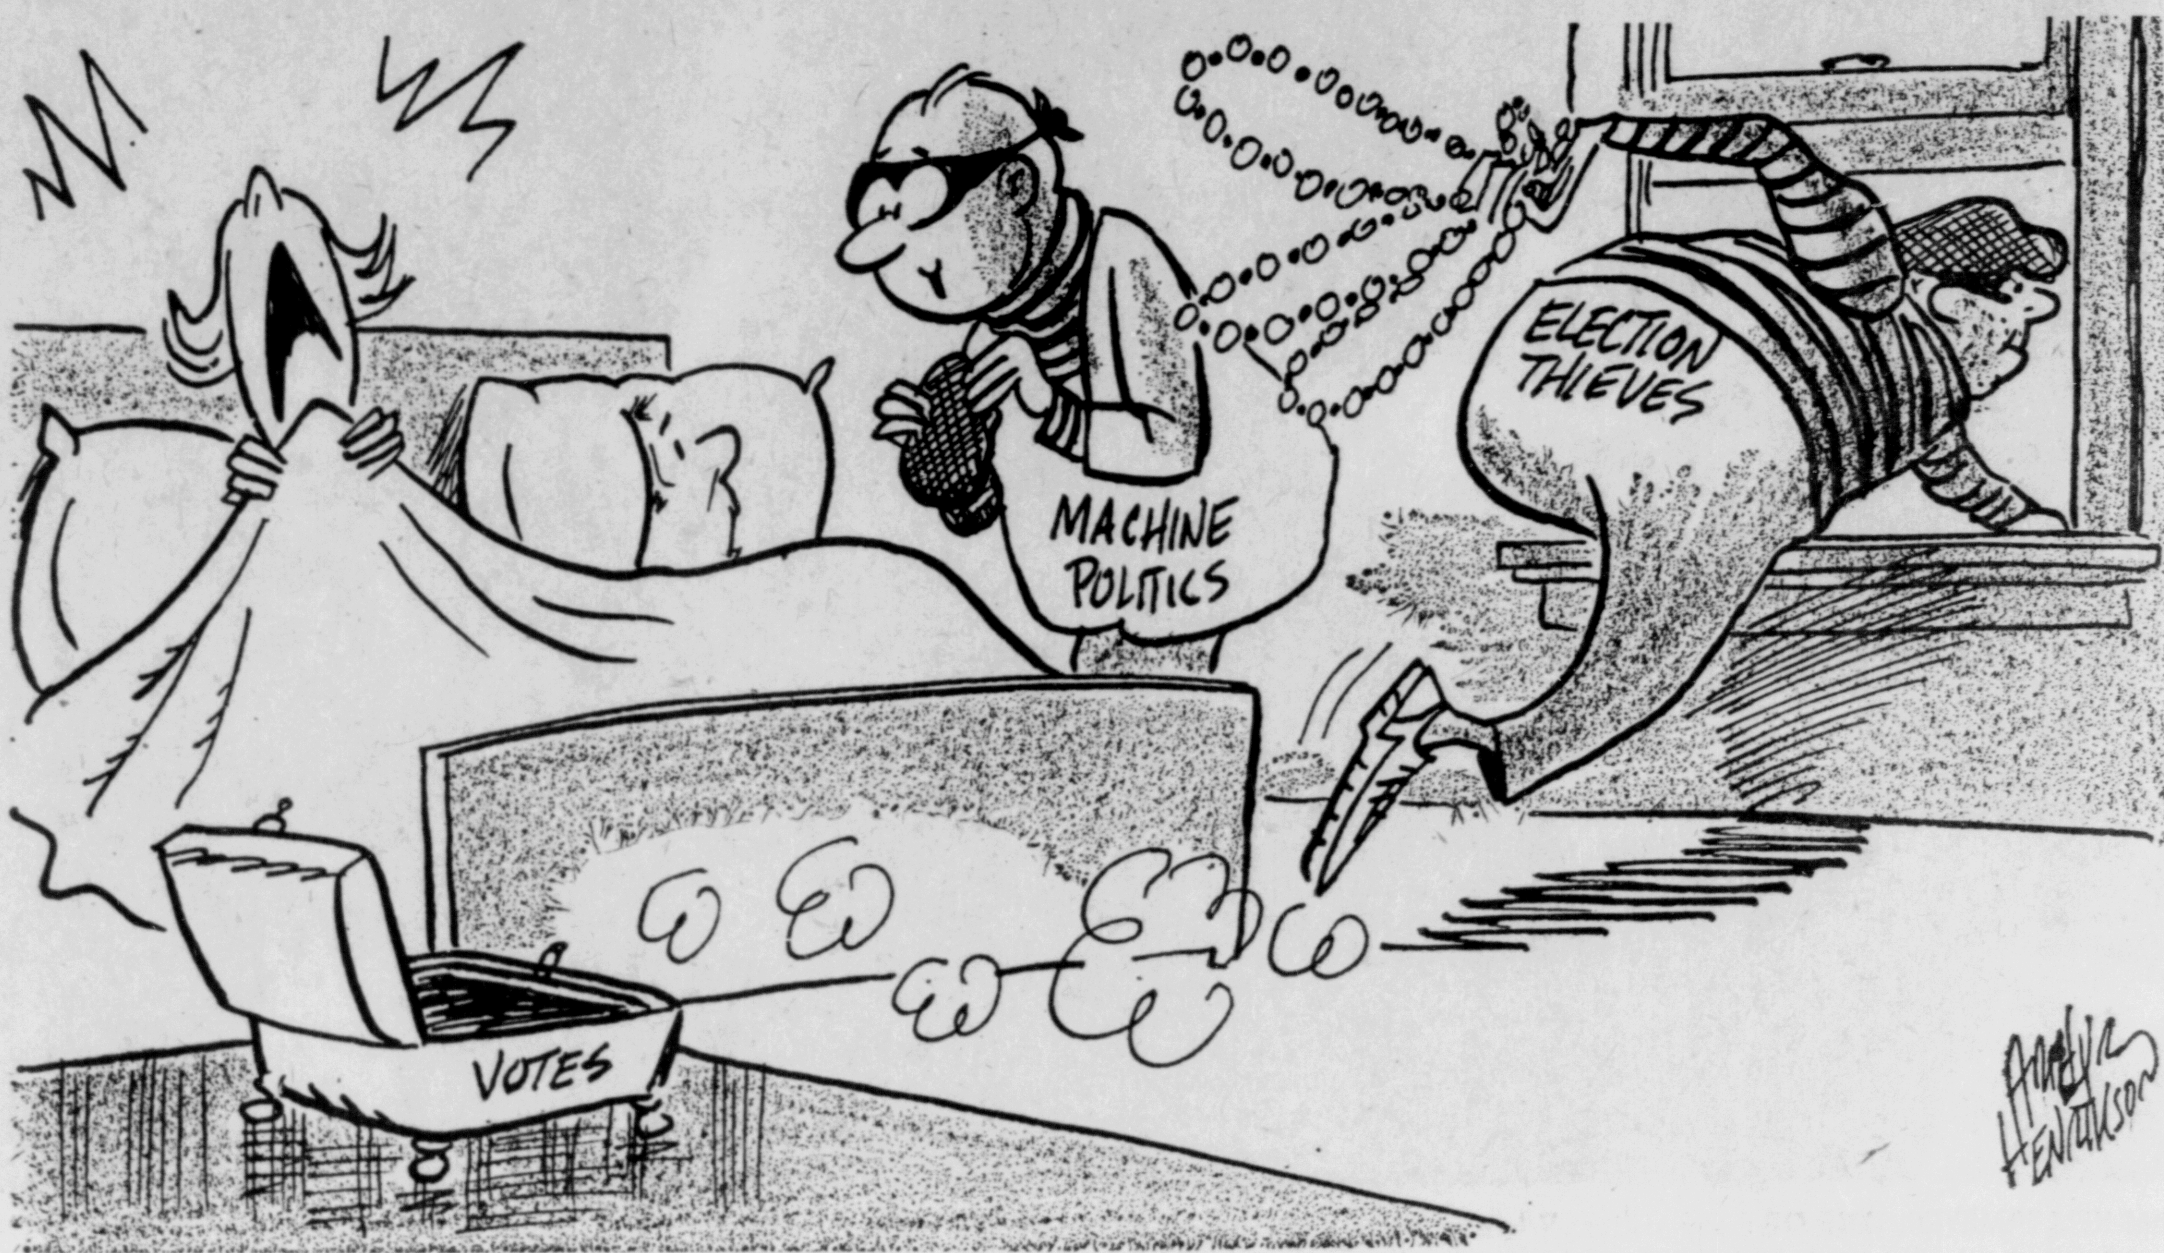

On election eve, Truman took to the airwaves with some down-to-earth reasoning. Think of how many "undecideds" he must have won over with his "The Republicans say they will . . . etc. Don't you believe it!" This catchline repeated in his speech.

Somewhat the same predicted imbalance is true today with the Nixon-McGovern election coming up. People say, "I don't want to vote for Nixon." "I don't want to vote for McGovern."

Has there ever been a presidential election in which so many people had so little enthusiasm for the candidates?

Why? Well, reasons can be cited but reasons don't really matter, now. What each candidate needs to do is find some way to reach deep into the thoughts, the ideas, the "I-like-that" responses of the undecided. He most surely will be addressed as "Mr. President."

Dorothy Meyer's Column

Just Call Me 'Curious (Senile)'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy Meyer did not write a column this week. We are reprinting today one of her best columns from past months.

by DOROTHY MEYER

Not long ago I promised to write a column about sex (admittedly a sneaky way of trying to garner a few more readers) and I've been at it ever since — trying to write the column, I mean.

The more I wrote the more I discovered that there isn't anything to say about the subject that hasn't already been said, ad infinitum and well nigh unto ad nauseum. It's also been portrayed, described and demonstrated; it's even been diagnosed and that's a terrible thing to do to sex.

About the only thing that no one has said — and I realize that this may come as a shock to movie producers, and some highbrow poodles I have met — is that sex hasn't just been invented. It's as old as the hills and the oldest profession, and none of the current crop of sexual Christopher Columbuses actually discovered it. They only think they did.

Despite the glut of words on the subject, I determined to fulfill my promise to write about sex, and I went to a couple of X-rated movies for inspiration. I saw "Ted and Pete and Lois and Jane — and Sam" or something like that, double-billed with an approximation of "I Am Curious (Senile)."

The last time I got that excited I saw a spider crawling up the kitchen wall, and I'm not afraid of spiders.

So I turned to the last word in books, the hot-selling manual of arms for women. The author assumed that anyone over 35 had been reared in total ignorance or fear of sex, so I skipped a lot of chapters. I'm over 35 — boy, am I ever — and we had a goodly amount of sex education at home, right along with instructions on how not to ruin a good standing rib roast. There was a little more emphasis on cooking than sex because it was then still all right to leave a little mystery for the wedding night, but who wants a mysterious beef roast?

Finally the author got around to telling me something I didn't already know — that a woman should set the mood for herself in order to heighten the mood for her mate. A favored method seemed to be stroking fur by candlelight. It sounded a bit far-fetched, but as my sexy little old mother used to say, "Nothing ventured, nothing gained," so as soon as Wally left for the bowling alley one night I prepared for The Mood.

Right off the bat I ran into trouble. Stupid, our cat, was the only fur in the house, but he was already in a mood not to stay home that night. I had to settle for my old raccoon coat that sheds a lot and we only keep it around for Halloween parties. I lit a couple of candles, cud-

'People Deserve Park Dist. Hearing'

In reply to Mr. John Person's letter concerning the Rolling Meadows Park District meeting, I would like to speak for the "other" side.

Mrs. Crawford ran one of the best pre-schools in the area last year. One hundred parents came to the meeting to get her reinstated because the reasons and circumstances of her dismissal smelled. Every parent there knew of her extraordinary patience, understanding, and enthusiasm exerted when working with our children.

The board, in so many words, admitted that the problem was between Mr. Person and Mrs. Crawford.

Mr. Person continually stated that he was upgrading the pre-school program. Mrs. Crawford had been fired, the positions of teacher aid had been dropped and the prices were raised. When asked to tell of the changes in the program itself, Mr. Person replied that the objectives and goals would be about the same as last year. That was all he said on the subject.

The board would say one thing, Mr. Person would say something entirely different. Finally the board agreed to talk to Mrs. Crawford about rehiring her as pre-school director. When we asked to hear Mr. Person state the same policy, he said he would talk to her about reopening the position of director. (Then he could hire whomever he wanted.) How ignorant did he think we were? We reached our goal through the board, but Mr. Person left us baffled.

Since the park district is financed by the people and is for the enjoyment of the people, why not let us be heard — even if it means stepping on Mr. Person's toes!

'Flood Excuses Duck The Issues'

I would like to take this means of expressing my appreciation to the various village, city, state and federal officials who, by their inactions after the devastating floods this year, have preserved my faith in politicians.

They have made much political (wet) hay with statements, meetings, etc. but have failed to take any positive action to prevent the same thing from occurring again — and again — and again.

After each flood, we hear the same lame excuses — there is nothing we can do — this is most unusual — too bad, etc.

The village officials say it is a state problem, state officials say it is a national problem, federal officials say it is an act of God, and I daresay, if He speaks on the subject, He will say it is an act of the devil.

It all proves old Abe Lincoln was wrong. You can fool all of the people all of the time. But as they say in the Wheeling Village Hall, "Stop wailing and keep bailing."

Schaumburg Officials Hit

I was recently amused and puzzled to see an entourage of people walking around Drumcastle looking at some "problem houses" in the area. Our illustrious leader, Mayor Atcher, was clicking his tongue, village trustees were shaking their heads and reporters were scurrying around taking pictures. Why all this display of concern now? — because a newspaper with a very wide circulation has written an article and given publicity to the problems? — is it because there is a village election coming up this spring? Very puzzling, why after five years the concern?

The Village of Schaumburg officials have been aware of building problems since Kaufmann and Broad Homes were first occupied almost six years ago. When they could have applied some pressures on Kaufmann and Broad, while they were still building in the area, no one was the least bit interested at Village Hall.

When I personally reported a building code violation to a village employee, the then "Building Inspector," I was informed that, "as far as the Village of Schaumburg was concerned I didn't live here, because no 'Occupancy Permit' had been issued for my house." Perhaps this is the reason they cannot be found now, perhaps they were never issued or the inspections never done. It made little difference to the Village of Schaumburg that the federal government acknowledged my residence, they delivered mail to my address. I also might add, that the Village Water Dept. did issue water bills to us. However, according to them, no one lived here. Isn't that amazing???

So again I ask, WHY ALL THE CONCERN NOW???

Sentimental About Kids

If I were an old man they would arrest me, but since I am an ordinary middle aged woman, people merely curse me for my indecisive driving. Lately I have a phobia, rather harmless really, unless an irate driver dashes into my rear bumper. Driving on my errands through the suburbs on these lovely fall days I pause, much too long, at stop signs to look at the lovely bouquets clustered there. The children form a painting on their way to school, in their gay colors, precisely tied ribbons on shining long hair. My eyes strain for a closer glimpse, the tiny shy one, the tall thin one surely containing an energy bomb. My reverie is halted by the blasting of a horn and there isn't a way I could explain my overly long stop sign and I merely accept the mutters and head wagging as the car behind me blasts around me probably saying "woman drivers." I drive on refreshed and feeling that I have glimpsed a bit of the eternity that poets write about and painters try to capture.

Dorothy Meyer

dled up with my coat — and nothing happened. Except Wally came home early, tripped over something and said, "Gee! I'm a little bit off! Turn on a light before I break my neck!"

Other women of my married years report similar repercussions from the fur-stroking routine. One husband thought his wife was hinting for a new stole when he found her petting the old one, and lectured her for an hour on the nation's economy. Another woke the kids to ask if their mother had been drinking and still another, whose wife had borrowed her aunt's new mink for the occasion, accused her of having an affair with her uncle.

Us old ones could be going about it all wrong, but the whole problem might be that we're applying these wondrous techniques to our "husbands." The author never uses the word, but refers to "mates" a lot. Maybe the book was written for the Navy?

Word A Day

Business Today

by LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many brokerage houses have learned to their sorrow that people who make high marks in the examinations to become registered securities salesmen frequently can't sell.

It's a matter of attitudes and motivation, according to two experts in the fields of aptitudes and selling.

Charles Rudman, head of the Klein Institute for Aptitude Testing, said one trouble is many of the persons who make high scores on the registered representative examinations simply crammed for the test. What was measured was only their ability to soak up information in a given period — not their sales ability, personality or experience.

A real aptitude test for securities sales people must deal, Rudman said, with background and accomplishments and particularly with attitudes.

THIS IS DOUBLY important in choosing sales people for all business, Rudman said, because the human reservoir from whom they must be chosen is distinctly inferior, in his opinion, to that of the past, at least insofar as selling capability is concerned.

Rudman gave three reasons for this severe judgment:

—The applicants are younger and less mature in their view of life than in the past.

—They do not feel they have to work as hard as their parents and older brothers and sisters knew they would have to work.

—During the affluent 1960s, management tolerated incredibly sloppy performances among sales people and so, as a group, sales people now are not well motivated.

Paul J. Meyer, who heads a firm called Success Motivation Institute, Inc., in Waco, Tex., which has trained some thousands of successful sales persons, agrees it is correct attitudes, more than anything else, that makes good salesmen.

MAYER BELIEVES the most important thing in selling is the salesman's belief in himself and that in order to believe in himself he must have a "no limitations belief in people."

"I see tremendous undiscovered potential in everyone I meet," Mayer says. He says he finds it astonishing that people will not believe in their own capacity to grow and accomplish more. He tells them they must stop seeing themselves as they are and "see themselves as they can become."

Area Families Will Help

Price Index Revision Set

The monthly Consumer Price Index, considered one of the most important indicators of the nation's economic health, is going to be revised. A number of families in this area are furnishing information that will be used in the revision.

These local families are among some 17,000 across the country taking part in the federal government's Consumer Expenditure Survey.

Mrs. Cleo M. Reynolds, supervisor of the survey area office in Chicago, says that interviewers will begin calling on the survey families early in October for the fourth time this year. Their fourth quarter calls will continue through December.

The survey, which began in January, is being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration. The Bureau is acting as collecting agent for the Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS).

Results of the survey will show what changes have taken place in consumer purchase patterns since the last survey was taken in 1960-61, and thus enable BLS to create a new "market basket" of goods and services which will reflect today's buying habits. Price changes for items in the market basket are measured on a monthly basis by BLS to form the monthly Consumer Price Index.

The Chicago office administers the survey program in the metropolitan areas of Chicago, Gary-Hammond-East Chicago, Ind., Fort Wayne, Ind., Champaign-Urbana, Ill.; and the counties of LaSalle and Kendall, Ill., and Cass, Pulaski, and White, Ind. About 700 households in these areas, scientifically selected by address (not by name) to provide a cross section of all households, will have been interviewed a total of five times when the survey is completed in March 1973.

Another group of households in these areas, numbering slightly more than 700, are participating in the Diary Survey, which is a part of the overall Consumer Expenditure Survey program. Each Diary Survey household is asked to keep a daily record of expenditures for two consecutive seven-day periods. This will provide information about the many small everyday purchases, such as food, cleaning products, and personal care items that people could not be expected to recall over a three-month period.

Official interviewers carry red, white, and blue identification badges with their signature and photo. They have sworn to the Census Bureau's oath of confidentiality, and are subject, under the law to severe penalties for violation of the oath, Mrs. Reynolds said.

Mrs. Marie Blouin, of Chicago will be interviewing in the Chicago Metropolitan Area, in addition to Mrs. Connie Gillespie of Chicago, Mrs. Doris Foreman, of Chicago, Mrs. Barbara Pennington of Park Forest, Mrs. Mae Valentino of Chicago and Ann Wright of Chicago.

More Sophisticated Banking System Sought In The U.S.

A picture of a more sophisticated public, demanding quality of banking services rather than quantity has emerged from a nationwide study conducted for the Foundation for Full Service Banks by Louis Harris and Associates.

Harris interviewed 3,168 men and women in the national survey and determined that the American public is more aware than ever of the differences among the nation's financial institutions and the services they offer.

In a parallel study of 828 community opinion leaders, the same basic picture emerged, only with greater definition. The leaders — generally more affluent and more frequent users of banking services than the average American — tended to be more definite in their attitudes and opinions.

The recently completed report included detailed comparisons of 10 key states, including Illinois. The survey is the second Harris study sponsored by the Foundation — the first was in 1970 — and is the fourth Foundation major research effort over the last decade to determine how the public views banking.

THE HARRIS study also discovered that: the credit and charge card market is declining in terms of people holding cards, but the position banks maintain in this area is holding steady or slightly increasing; and opinion leaders would like to see savings banks and savings and loan associations be permitted to offer a similar range of services which Full Service Banks offer now.

Also, helping minorities is still a comparative weakness in banking's corporate reputation, although full service banks showed gains over the 1970 Harris study in how the public views banks' concern for the quality of life of their communities.

Forty-three per cent of the nation's men and women rate full service banks "very high" in concern to help the community. Business as a whole, however, only rated 32 per cent for "very high in helping the community."

Forty-nine per cent of Illinois' residents feel the banks express "very high concern" to help the community. Here, as in a number of other instances, the state's citizens exhibited a higher degree of confidence than the national average.

Nineteen different categories of community activity were presented to those interviewed, and the banks showed favorably in 12, including contributing to the community, making housing loans to middle income individuals, helping local business grow, providing jobs and training for young people and helping public education.

In seven areas, however, more people were critical of banks than laudatory. These included such sensitive areas as making personal loans to minorities, making business loans to minorities, hiring minority group employees and helping to find solutions to racial problems.

FIFTY-ONE per cent of Illinois' men and women have "discretionary income" matching the national average, the survey indicated. But while the national average rose six points since 1970, an added 12 per cent of the state's men and women now have extra dollars to spend.

There has been an increase in the use of charge and credit cards in the state. In the past two years, the number of Illinois residents carrying them has risen four points to the national average of 50 per cent; meanwhile, the national average dropped four points to reach that same 50 per cent mark.

Illinois approximates the national average when it comes to use of loan services, with no variation more than five points. Thirty-one per cent of the state's residents take out auto loans; 17 per cent home mortgages; 13 per cent personal loans; 5 per cent home improvement loans, and 4 per cent educational loans.

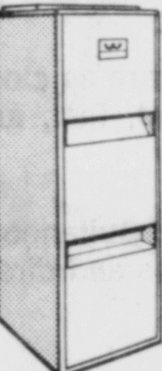

Illinois residents were about average in their familiarity with full service banks, with 57 per cent saying they were familiar with them.

We feel like 100 MILLION DOLLARS ...and so should you!

When you stop and think of it, one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000.00) is a lot of money. It's your money. You have entrusted us to manage it.

An institution which attains this level in assets acquires a new status in the financial world. Frankly, we like the feeling—and you should, too.

On our side, it means a rarely attained achievement. It means a highly professional competence. It means giving our customers a variety of financially sound and flexible savings plans and paying the highest rates allowed by law. It means providing our customers with sure, dependable loans. It means protecting our savers' dollars, not only with the insurance of a Federal agency but with our own financial strength and integrity.

On your part, it means significant accomplishment. As a mutual institution chartered by the Federal Government, we are owned—not by officers, directors, employees, or stockholders—but by you who make use of our facilities and services. This is what you have accomplished in the 19-plus years since Arlington Federal Savings was founded in March 1953:

- You have made $200,000,000 available through your savings to families seeking to achieve ambitions for home ownership or home renovation. This is a stout fund enabling thousands of northwest suburban families to obtain the financing needed to build, buy, or remodel their residences. It has contributed vastly to the economic strength of the area.

- You have added $22,000,000 to your resources—the earnings you have received for depositing your savings with us and making them available for home lending.

- You have encouraged the physical development of the Association along adopted Williamsburg colonial lines rather than in the direction of a modern "antiseptic" building. This is really your financial home; we have simply tried to make it as you have indicated you like it.

The best evidence that you endorse what has been done is our extraordinary record of growth, a record that within just two decades has placed us within the top 10 per cent of the nation's 5,550 savings and loan associations. Particularly convincing is your response to our April 1971 announcement of expansion plans:

- A 22 per cent increase in savings assets during 1971, the largest percentile gain in over a decade.

- The surpassing of the 1971 record in the first seven months of 1972, a savings pace which, if maintained, will produce an incredible 40 per cent increase for the whole year.

"I've always been treated royal." The 21,000 persons who registered during the six-week Open House ending July 15 paid their compliments in words. Of all the congratulatory expressions, the one we cherish most is a handwritten note from an Iron Mountain (Mich.) lady, a former local resident, who wrote:

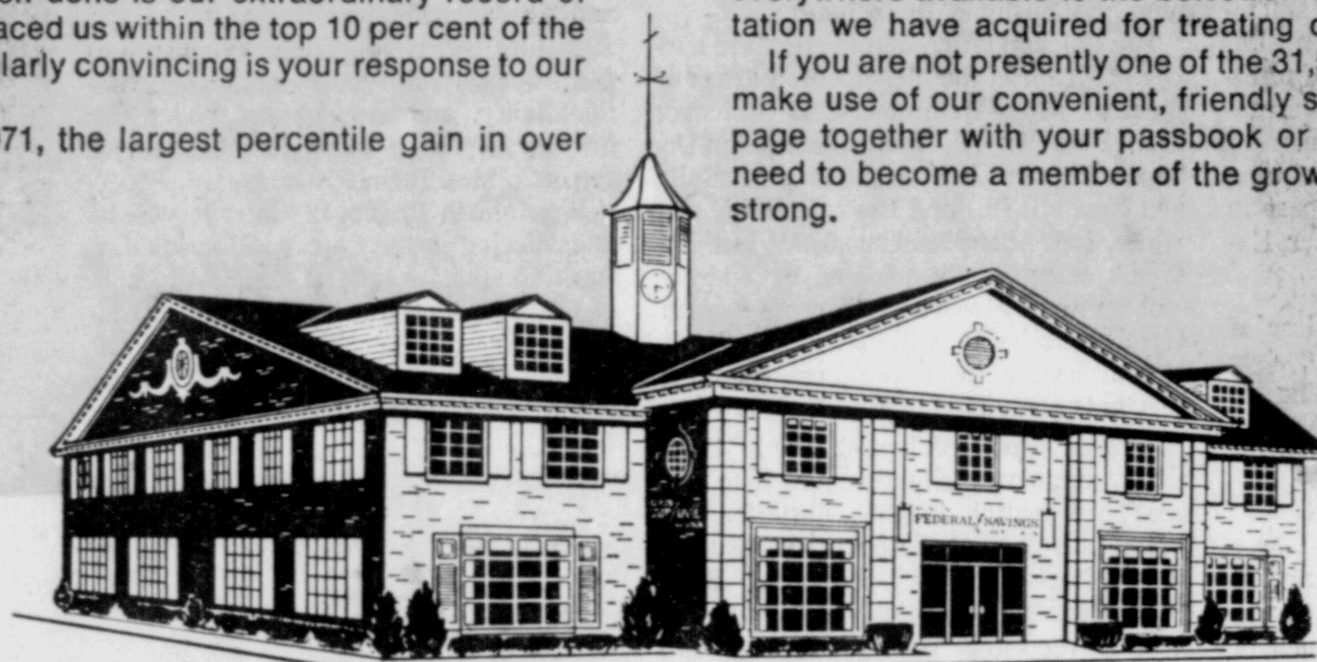

"Words can't begin to say how beautiful the bank now is (we forgive her for calling us a bank!). It sure is something to be proud of and I'm very glad to be a depositor. I took several of your brochures to show my friends and relatives up here and all they could say was they have never seen anything quite like it or so huge or beautiful. As long as I've been banking I've always been treated royal and I expect to keep banking at Arlington Heights Federal for quite some time."

We are particularly grateful for the comment about "royal" treatment. We think the architecture has something to do with it; our employees frequently comment how easy it is to be warm and friendly in such surroundings. Customers too get into the spirit when they enter the building.

In addition, of course, we have emphasized in our staff relations programs that in a business like ours where one dollar bill is quite like another, friendly service is the distinguishing characteristic among savings institutions.

We have striven to give our customers every advantage that the laws governing financial institutions and sound, prudent management allow; our savings programs pay the highest allowable rates of return and our home mortgage loans combine advantageous features not everywhere available to the borrower. Beyond these competitive features is the special reputation we have acquired for treating our customers "royal."

If you are not presently one of the 31,500 savings customers, now is an appropriate time to make use of our convenient, friendly services and facilities. The New Account Form on this page together with your passbook or certificate from another savings institution is all you need to become a member of the growing Arlington Federal Savings family—$100,000,000 strong.

Hospital Fashion-Luncheon

All Eyes Were On The Men

by MARIANNE SCOTT

Men on the runway may have been a "first" for the famous Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Fashion Show held last Wednesday in Chicago, but it was also a "first" for Northwest Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary show held the following day at Arlington Park Towers. However, St. Luke's had only four men; Northwest had seven.

And while the local show, "Innovations '72," didn't have Bill Blass in the dressing room to help dress the women, the models, professionals, managed easily and quickly to don one beautiful costume after another from Chas. A. Stevens.

But it was the men, in their outfits from Frank Brothers of Woodfield, that made the local show a really fun affair. As if they needed moral support, each of the outgoing gentlemen was given a beautiful model, in coordinating ensemble, to escort him on the runway. And while the professionals were gorgeous and wore exquisite ensembles, all eyes were on the men.

Apparently told by their runway partners, "Just do what I do!" the men attempted to pivot, flipped open their coats to show their shirts, sometimes slung a coat casually over one shoulder or dragged topcoats along the floor. Real hams, they brought down the house with their antics.

WHILE MODELING the layered look in sports coordinates, Dr. Stanley Zyd-wondered what to do with his hands, which he finally stuck into the pockets of his wool, double knit slacks. Another of his ensembles was a leather trench coat worn over a brown suit.

Dr. Ralph Casciaro's ensembles included a navy outfit with coat lined in bright red, while Dr. E. J. Jacobs modeled a pigskin suede jacket tailored in Spain and a black cashmere overcoat over a flannel suit.

Dr. Hector Vazquez wore an imported knit outfit with antelope suede trim for his first stint on the runway. For his second he appeared with not one, but two models in tiger prints. He was in a wool and polyester knit with a western flair.

Dr. Robert Alfini modeled a camel coat over a brown suit and a wool tweed outfit with suede pockets.

Handsome Joe Pannehausen, a paramedic with the new emergency cardiac unit, modeled a Pierre Cardin ensemble with plaid trousers and twill blazer; also a leather overcoat over a wool knit suit.

Terry Taylor, coordinator of volunteers at Northwest, looked very dapper in a hand-tailored plaid suit topped with an all-weather coat; also a velvet dinner jacket for dressy occasions.

WHEN THE MEN weren't on the runway the audience noted the many plaids, tweeds, pastel candy colors and Indian prints worn by the women models. Long hostess ensembles that double for many occasions, the new palazzo trousers, beautiful pant suits, halters, long jackets, short jackets, long coats, short coats, blazers and jeans were among the runway selections.

Important returns are lurex, dolman and roomier sleeves, tent coats, Chesterfields, cinched waists, swingy skirts that "move," pale hosiery, higher heels and white cuffs and collars and more white cuffs and collars. Everything is soft, feminine and luxurious looking. Jewelry is worn in twos and threes and it is what you wear with your pant outfits that make news this year.

"THE WOMAN of the '70's is a woman in the mood for clothes," said Dorie Bell, fashion director at Stevens and commentator for the show. "There is no longer an emphasis on youth," she stated, "and today's woman chooses her own personal skirt length, her own colors, her own special style." Dorie believes the short skirts are for the young teenager only.

As in other years, popular runway ensembles were the pink volunteer pinafore and white blouse modeled by Mrs. Richard Impey, and the pink and white striped pinafore of the candystriper, modeled by Holly Lidge.

Chairman of the show was Mrs. Robert Fletcher, who told the audience that volunteers donate 72,000 hours a year at the hospital. Mrs. W.J. Willy, president of the Auxiliary, was understandably pleased with the success of the luncheon-show which was attended by nearly 900 women. The affair was oversold by 100 and guests numbered 300 more than last year.

FORTIFYING HIMSELF for the runway, Dr. Hector Vazquez eases his runway jitters by chatting with Mrs. Jack Walsh, assistant chairman of Northwest Hospital fashion show, and Mrs. John Woods, wife of Arlington Heights mayor and a committee chairman for the show.

FASHION SHOW Coordinator Mrs. John Howard, Inverness, explains the runway procedure to Dr. E. J. Jacobs, right, as Robert Fletcher, husband of the luncheon-show chairman, chuckles at the advice. The men models, doctors and hospital personnel, were the hit of the show.

Wooded His Bride By Long Distance

Susan Gail Schinkowsky first met William A. Mott Jr. in the summer of 1971. For a year he wooed her long distance with telephone calls, letters and sometimes a plane trip to see her. On Sept. 9 their romance culminated in marriage when they said their vows at Trinity Lutheran Church of Rolling Meadows.

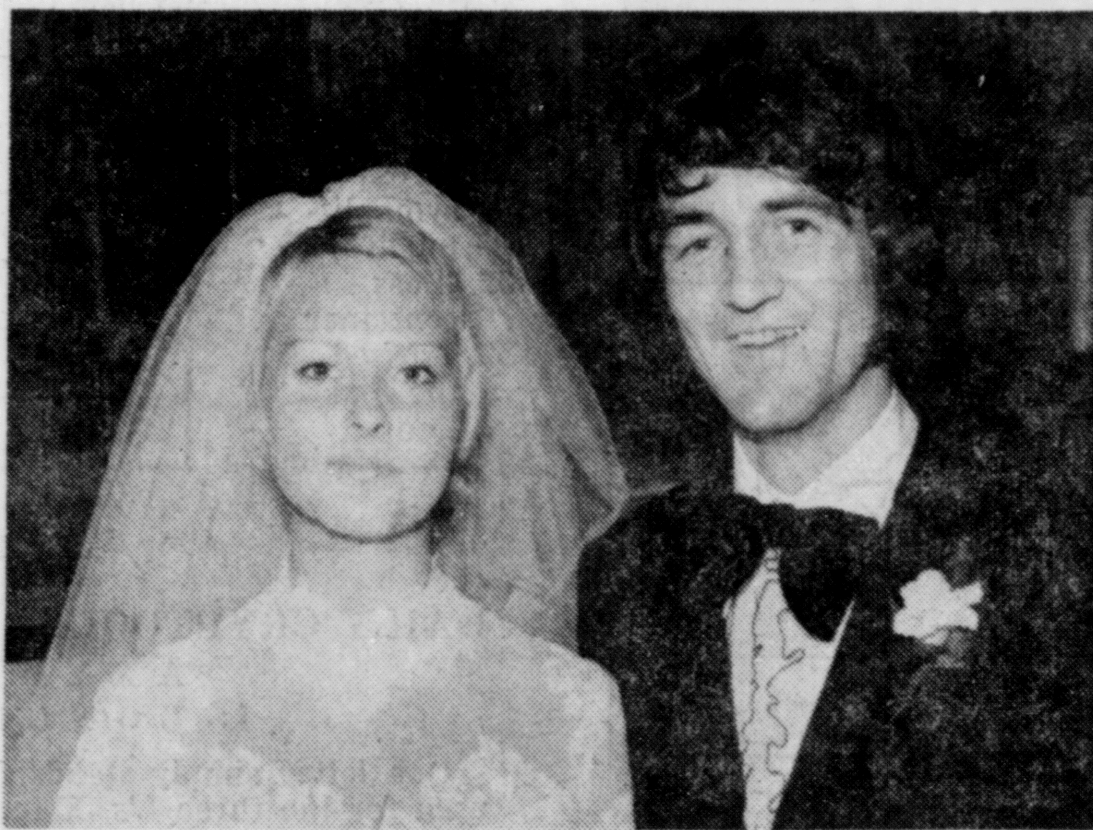

Acolytes and banners preceded the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Schinkowsky of 311 N. Dwyer Ave., Arlington Heights, as she walked down the aisle for the 4 o'clock double ring ceremony.

As she approached the altar, Susan was wearing an A line gown of white organza over taffeta trimmed in peau d'ange lace. It was styled with a high neckline, semi-Empire waist and long fitted sleeves and had a chapel-length train. A lace Camelot bonnet trimmed in seed pearls held her two-tiered veil and blusher of illusion. Three huge white orchids surrounded by white and pink roses and baby's breath comprised her bouquet.

THE BRIDE'S sister Sandra, was her maid of honor while Sandra Price and Mary Christensen, both of Arlington Heights, were bridesmaids. Their voile gowns featured high necks, a bib lace front, long bishop sleeves and a flounce around the hemline. A bow headpiece held their short veils.

The maid of honor was in yellow and carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow baby's breath while the bridesmaids wore pink and carried bouquets of white daisies and pink baby's breath.

The bridegroom was attended by a friend, A. Douglas Ineson of Buffalo, N. Y. His brother Patrick, of Fort Erie, Ont., Canada, served as an usher along with Gary Gronlund of Arlington Heights, a classmate of the bride's at Arlington High School.

Among special guests attending were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brinkman of Hot Springs, Ark., and the bridegroom's two grandmothers, Mrs. A. Osborn and Mrs. E. Campbell, both of Fort Erie, as well as his godparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mairs of Sarnia, Ont.

AT THE DINNER reception in the church fellowship hall following the wedding ceremony, Susan's godmother, Mrs. George Schwartz of Lafayette, La., cut the wedding cake.

William, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mott of Fort Erie, and his new bride spent several days in Fort Erie before going to their new apartment in Buffalo, N. Y., where he is employed by General Motors Corp.

Susan attended John and Louis Beauty School in Arlington Heights.

Friday, 13th A Lucky Day

Friday the 13th was a lucky day for Kathleen Ann Katzman of Buffalo Grove and Thomas Wade Kahle of Toledo, Ohio.

While both were students at the University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio, the couple met on a blind date on that most superstitious day.

Both were graduated from the university in 1972 and on Aug. 26 they were married in St. Matthew's Catholic Church in Indianapolis, Kathleen's former home. As newlyweds, the couple are residing in Columbus, Ohio, where Kathleen is employed by Ashland Oil Co., and where Tom is studying at Ohio State University Law School.

Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Katzman, 880 Twisted Oak Lane, Buffalo Grove, chose Barbara Schneider, Falls Church, Va., as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jo Ann Pugh, Perrysburg, Ohio, and Ellen Hanon, Cleveland, Ohio. Tom, son of Mrs. P. E. Kahle and the late Mr. Kahle, Toledo, Ohio, chose David Webber, Butler, Pa., as his best man, and Joseph Klinec, Cleveland, and his brother, James Kahle, Toledo, as ushers.

The 2 p.m., double ring service was followed by a buffet dinner reception at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Indianapolis. The couple honeymooned for two days in southern Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Kahle

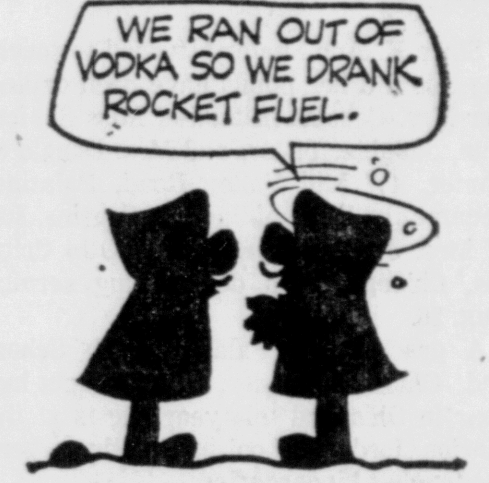

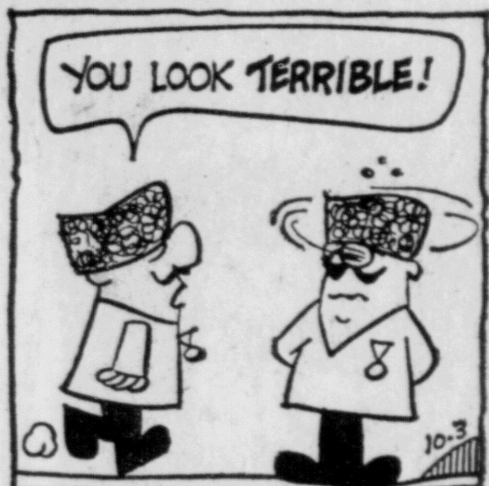

"I simply don't know HOW Henry Kissinger manages without a wife to keep his bags packed!"

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: This may sound silly but one never knows unless they ask. We live in the suburbs and have been through a case of poison ivy already. Is there any way I could tell if the children have been near it when they come in after playing? — Mrs. Tom W.

Afraid not. The reaction can show up anywhere from a few hours after contact to two days later. One thing to do, of course, is to show the youngsters pictures of the three-leaf poison ivy and coach them not to handle it. Another step is to have them wash thoroughly immediately after playing outdoors. A good washing and putting on some calamine lotion can help get rid of whatever they've touched.

Oh, one thing more: Should a case break out, do some cleaning up of clothing, toys, bicycles and so forth. Toddlers sometimes break out, too, as the result of this kind of after-contact.

Dear Dorothy: I owe you a thousand thanks for solving a problem that was bothering us for some time. In your instructions to rid the teakettle of lime buildup, the steam coming out of the kettle lightened the top of the counter, range (the counter that cooks) which we've never been able to clean. I poured a little vinegar on the area and no more stain. Hooray. — Mrs. B. W. Bowen.

Dear Dorothy: I hear and read about so many people squawking about the large numbers of chemicals that we have to eat every day in just the normal routine of living. To me, their concern is amusing. Don't they know that many of the simple things we eat are chemicals — like water, salt, sugar, vinegar, starch and so forth. Sure, we could do without some of the additives. Chemicals are going to be with us always. Why don't you pass the word along? — J.K.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Janet Meyer Becomes Bride Of Lester Bergan

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bergan

The former Janet Meyer of Rolling Meadows became the bride of Lester Bergan of Elk Grove Village in a late afternoon double ring ceremony Sept. 9 at Bethel Lutheran Church of Palatine.

Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer, 3806 Eagle Lane, and a graduate of Forest View High School and Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing. She now works as a nurse at Lutheran General.

Lester, the son of Mrs. Lester V. Bergan of Elmhurst, is employed by the Tappan Co. in Itasca and attends Harper College part-time.

The couple are making their home in Elk Grove.

Janet's choice of wedding gown was white organza over taffeta with cotton lace trim. The Empire style gown had a long chapel train, lantern sleeves and a high neckline. With it the bride wore an elbow-length veil and carried white snowdrift mums and white roses accented by blue baby's breath.

HER ATTENDANTS wore Empire-waisted long sleeved gowns in a blue lawn "wallpaper flower" print. They carried bouquets of yellow mums, pink carnations and blue bachelor buttons combined with baby's breath.

Janet had her sister Nancy, also of Rolling Meadows, as her maid of honor and Nancy Cooper, Rolling Meadows; Nnette Bergan, the bridegroom's sister, of Elmhurst; and Linda Salsgiver, Bensenville, her former roommate, as bridesmaids.

The groom's three brothers were in the wedding party, Joseph, of Bensenville, as best man, and Peter and Marc, both of Elmhurst, as ushers. James Tingleff, Bensenville, a friend of the bridegroom, also was an usher.

There was a reception for the 150 wedding guests at the Royal Court Inn, Des Plaines.

The newlyweds spent one week in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for their honeymoon.

Fashion Drive By Nurses Club

Proceeds will be used to support the club's philanthropic projects. ### Marianne's Sewing Tip

Soft knits tend to curl at the edges (usually toward the right side). Before cutting, tape together several sheets of tissue paper. Pin your fabric to these sheets. During construction, you can minimize curling of seam allowances in two ways. Stitch with a straight or zig-zag stitch 1/4" from the edges of each seam allowance; or stitch seam allowances together 1/4" from the seamline and trim close to this second line of stitching. No need to worry about raveling.

Fitness Class Makes Life More Worth Living

by BARRY SIGALE
(Last of a series)

Sixty-two-year-old Walter Kirchhoff knows full well the meaning of the word death. He uses a derivation of the word in the phrase, "I'm afraid to die."

Kirchhoff, who lives in Mount Prospect and is the president of the Walter Kirchhoff Insurance Agency, talks to his clients about dying, making provisions for their family when that day comes.

But the balding, exuberant descendant of the famous Kirchhoff family of the Northwest suburbs would rather talk about living, feeling his best now and planning on living a long, full, rewarding life.

Kirchhoff is one of more than 500 men and women who attend physical fitness classes at the Northwest Suburban YMCA in Des Plaines.

He can be seen every Tuesday and Thursday night with about 50 or 60 other guys, running clockwise around the second floor gymnasium or doing any one of a myriad of stretching and tightening exercises devised by physical education director Art Michaely.

"I'M AFRAID TO give up the class," said Kirchhoff of his participation for the past four years in Michaely's program. "I'm afraid to die if I did."

"This is the finest thing I ever did in my life, joining this class. I've never felt better in my life. There's no question about it. I don't know what a headache is. I'm more ambitious. I have a different mental attitude. I have a new outlook on life. I'm raring to go."

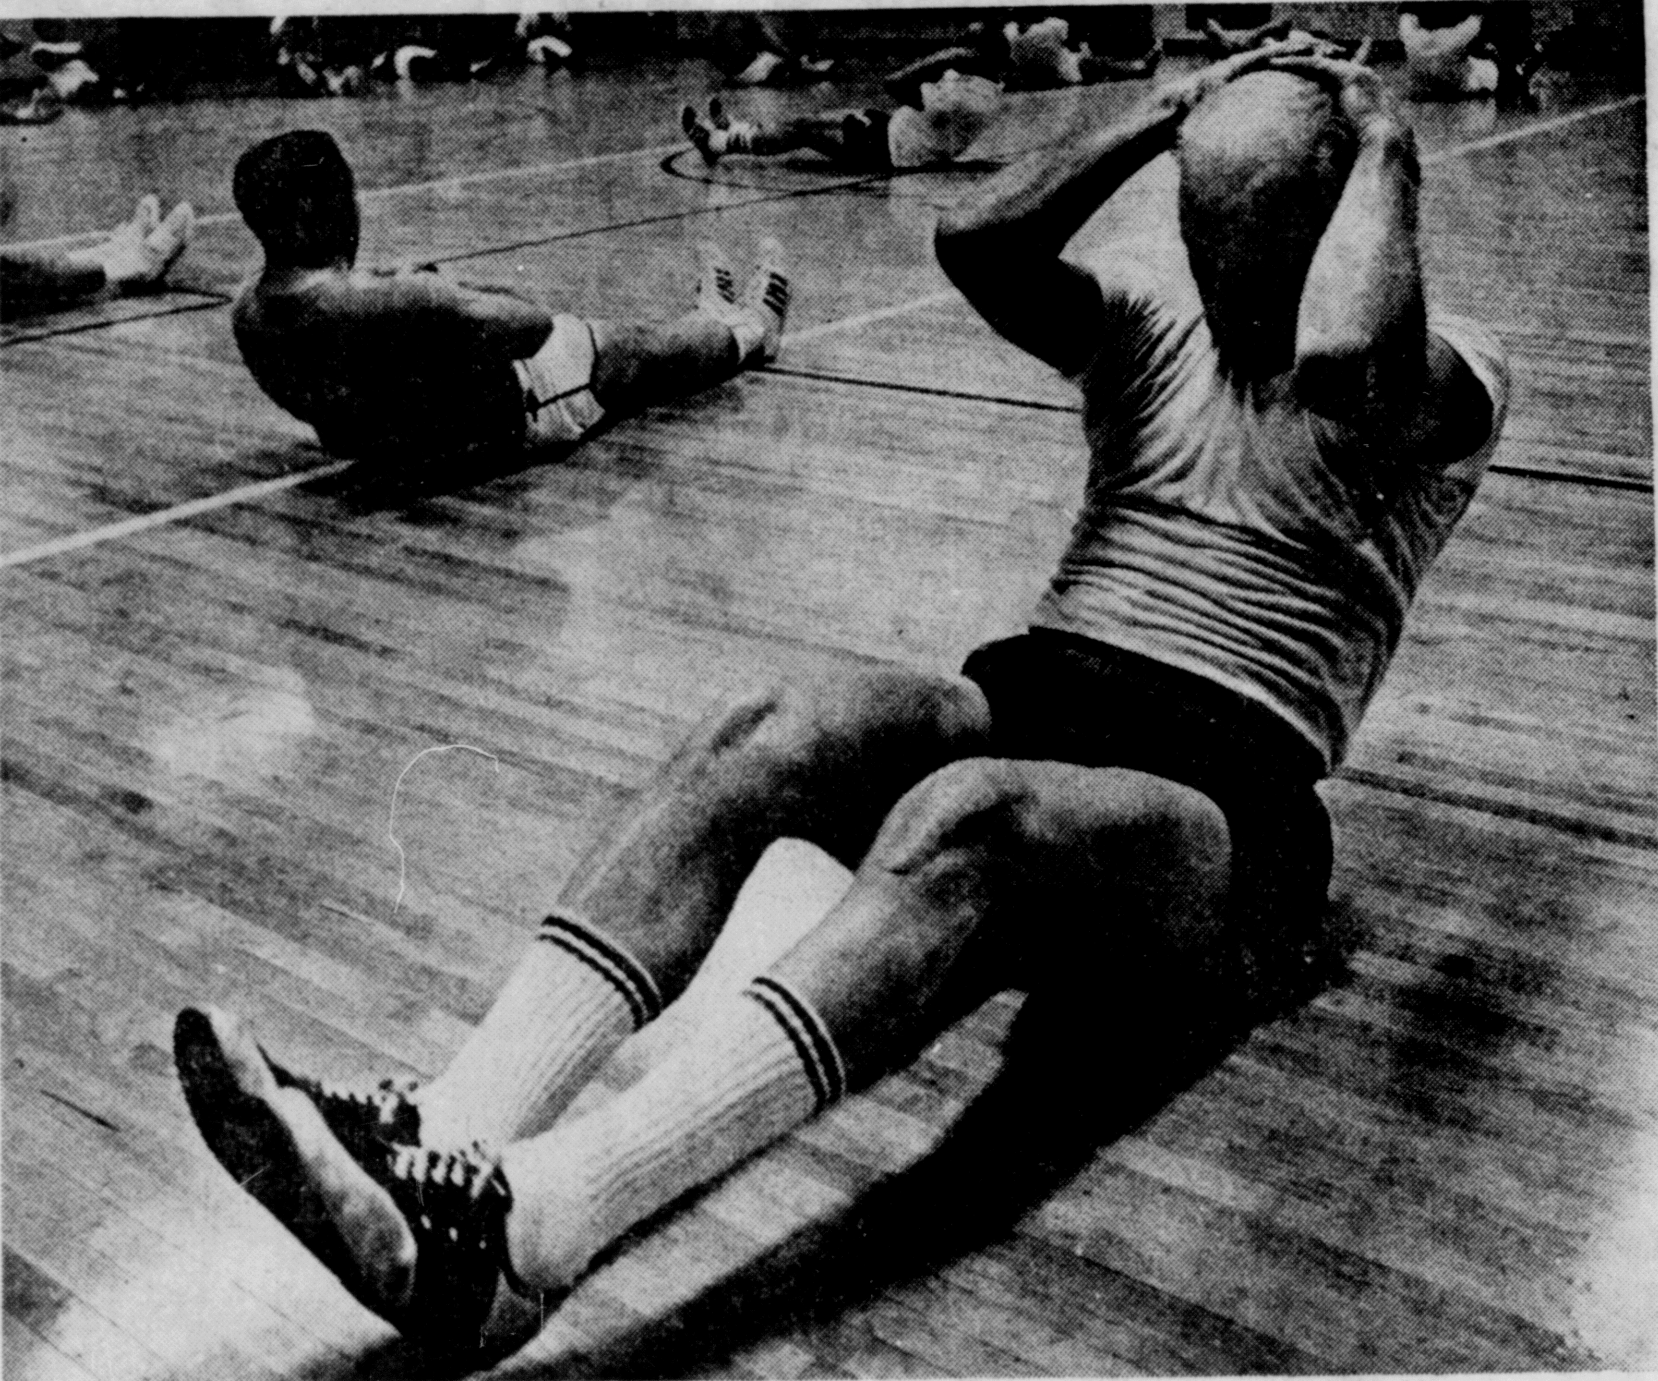

Also raring to go are Kirchhoff's classmates, each with a different motivation behind their wanting to be pushed to the limits by Michaely's grueling, nonstop 45-minute workouts.

For Manny Levin, his day-to-day life has remained virtually the same since he was stricken with heart attacks in 1966 and 1969. And that is because of Michaely's class, he said.

The Morton Grove resident, assistant to the president of a Chicago furniture manufacturing company, said he hasn't changed his mental attitude toward the fear of having another heart attack and that if he did have one he is in such good physical condition he would be able to survive it.

"The likelihood of my having another heart attack has been reduced," Levin said. "My doctor said that if I wasn't in top condition I wouldn't have made it to the hospital during my second attack."

Levin, 52, was, like so many others, ripe for his first heart attack. "I was very inactive. I was overweight. I worked a lot but had no recreation. But when I had a heart attack (his first) I was very surprised. I was in oxygen for eight days. Afterwards my doctor said I

Hard To Cope With Suburban Life

Mental Problems Are Increasing

by BARRY SIGALE

The status seeking suburban man, wrapped up in his quest for the better things in life, may be causing serious mental problems in himself and frustrations and depression in his wife.

The suburban man's workaday world, loaded with keen competition, performance pressures and the increased concentration needed to carry out his duties, leaves him little time to solve his own problems and even less time to devote to his family.

The suburban woman, feeling unwanted and unloved as a result of her husband's concerted effort in the direction of his job, thus becomes despondent and soured in her marriage.

According to Dr. Eugene Trager, director of the Northwest Mental Health Center and a staff psychiatrist at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, the situations described above are some of the most common problems he deals with in his contact with suburban residents.

"SUBURBIA, especially the Northwest suburban area, has been the place where people who are seeking status go. The suburbs are the fastest way to achieve upper class status. Property is cheaper, the establishment is not as entrenched, the competition is more open and there's a chance to participate more," Dr. Trager said.

But, said Dr. Trager, when people reach their goal, accomplish what they have set out to do, they often feel there is no "payoff, that it wasn't worth the effort." This is when they have problems.

"The husband is so busy worrying about paying the mortgage," Dr. Trager said. "And the wife, at home, is alienated from her neighbors, isolated and doesn't have a sense of community. Compounding the issue is putting this on top of her personal problems."

At the Northwest Mental Health Center more than 1,000 persons have come for help so far this year, an increase over last year. But the percentage of men utilizing the facility remains small, according to Dr. Trager.

"The problem they give is time, that they work long hours. But it's more than that. In our culture it's more acceptable for a woman to be relatively helpless and seek help than for a man. For man to accept help is a sign of weakness or femininity in our society. It's also a stigma. I call it the Eagleton problem. People are afraid that their problem might get known, that it would jeopardize or hinder their career."

"THERE IS A DEFINITE concern over a mental health record. The question appears on employment applications. We unequivocally say they should lie on this question. They should be hired on their past record. It's blatant discrimination. These people are punished for getting help."

The suburban man is "drained at the end of the day," said Dr. Trager, "and he can't cope with his family life. This snowballs into an untenable situation. For instance, when the guy gets home he is approached by his kids. He tells them to go away. Then the kid goes out and commits an anti-social act."

"What it all comes down to," said Dr. Trager, "is that men feel they ought to be getting more satisfaction out of life. They say, 'I ought to be happy, I've done all the right things, I have an education,' But he also says, 'my wife is depressed, my kids are having problems.'"

The woman is the person seen most by therapists at the center. The typical situation is described by Dr. Trager.

"The wife is depressed when she comes here to the suburbs. Before she moved out here we find her marriage was viable but not strong. But it wasn't apparent until she got here. Then she has to adjust to suburban life and her new role with two kids.

"We discover that her marriage has always been under strain. Why? Because the marriage was not entered into for the right reasons. They were either getting away from a bad home situation, needed dependency on others or they were not capable of a better choice so they panicked. Then they shoved it in the back of their mind. With suburban pressures the strain becomes apparent."

"WHAT WE THEN DO is define what they want, what it is possible to get for them. We assess what they really want from life, then subtract what they can't have from what they want."

"Let's suppose she wanted a better man," Dr. Trager said, "but she didn't get him and didn't accept that fact. Just by admitting what one wanted there is relief. It's extremely difficult to say they made the wrong choice."

"Now we ask how we can make the best of the situation. She has a husband and two kids. That's what she's got. She can either improve herself, her physical appearance, go back to school or to work or anything that she desires."

"Then, in the process of therapy, we tell her to get back off the couch and put her nose to the grindstone. We tell her nobody gets better through therapy. You only get better in life. We tell her to exercise her choices."

"When she does this we find we may have to deal with the husband and his responsibilities. He finally discovers that what was, isn't. In order for her to be happy, therefore, something must be taken from him. The result is a better life together."

Marshak said. "I weighed 210 pounds four years ago. I'm down to 175 now. I've never felt so good in my life."

Marshak, an auto dealer, said his work capacity has improved. "I have more patience, my mind's clearer, I feel better and perform better. Everything about me has improved."

IF MARSHAK is one of the chief salesmen of Michaely's program he doesn't show it in class. In fact, he leads some of the "protestors" in chiding remarks of Michaely as Michaely drives them through his 45-minute workout.

"You're a sadist, that's what you are Michaely," comes a harsh, breathless all push on.

Levin too: "I've got nothing to prove to anybody but myself," he said. "I enjoy life. I have a blast. I live day to day, week to week. I live in moderation, eat in moderation and stay away from tension. But I have no qualms about going out and having a bender, having a storm."

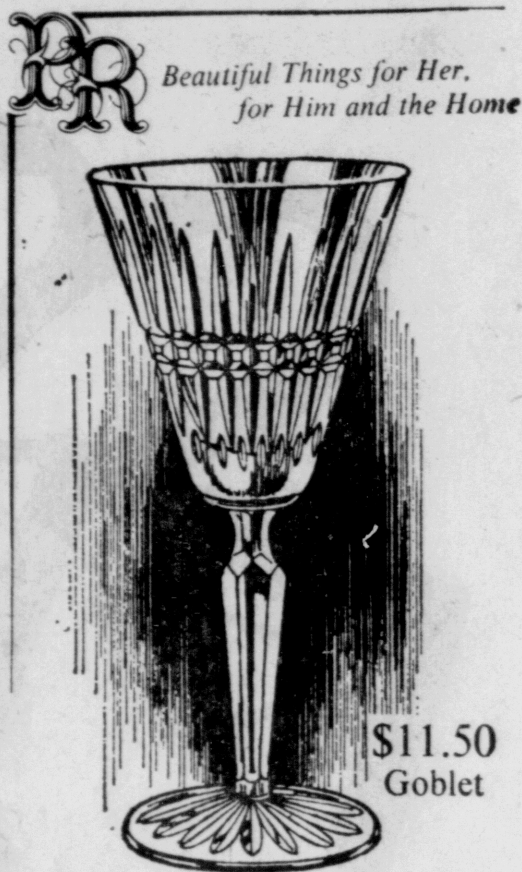

"This is the finest thing I ever did in my life. I've never felt better. I'm more ambitious and have a different mental attitude."

cry from among the ranks of the red-faced participants. Other jibes echo through the gym.

The main thing about the drill is that a nonstop pace is reached. First comes the jogging, about five times around the gym. Then there's jogging sideways, then backwards. Most of them do this without much effort, as we know it.

Between running is a series of exercises, push ups, sit ups, deep knee bends and variations that just about defy description.

Through it all, especially during a particularly tough maneuver, some of them just lay still, reaching back for that deep, welcome breath that brings them back from the brink of collapse. But they
